McCarthy Booster Soundly Beaten In New Jersey Vote

By JAMES P. HACKETT
NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Rep. William B. Widnall today hailed his Republican primary election victory over McCarthy booster J. Parrell Thomas as a vote of confidence in President Eisenhower rather than a test of McCarthyism.

Widnall defeated Thomas by a 35,000 to 5,000 vote in the statewide congressional contest of Tuesday's primary election in New Jersey.

"I think the results show that you need more than McCarthy as

Anti-Polio Tests Start April 26

LANSING (AP)—Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, says tests of Salk anti-polio vaccine will commence in Michigan April 26 and gives personal assurance the serum will be both safe and sufficiently strong "to have a reasonable chance of producing immunity."

Heustis announced his decision Tuesday in a strongly worded statement saying he was "extremely disappointed in the lack of definite, clear-cut action by the Michigan State Medical Society" on use of the vaccine.

On the basis of his own evidence, Dr. Heustis said he believes the vaccine safe and "we are going ahead" with tests on 120,000 school children in 11 Michigan counties.

The Society said Monday night it would "not withhold approval" of the tests and would "cooperate" with Heustis in "the field experiment." It said responsibility in the tests rested with Heustis.

All Japan Aroused By Murder Of Girl, 7

TOKYO (AP)—The grade school rape-slaying of a 7-year-old girl—a crime comparatively rare in Japan—had Tokyo and most of the nation in outcry today for the hunting down of the killer.

The victim, Kyoko Hosoda, a second-grade pupil, was the daughter of a political writer for Yomiuri, one of Japan's three biggest newspapers.

She was waylaid Monday in the school toilet room.

Top Defense Official Calls McCarthy Bare-Faced Liar

French Can Win At Dien Bien Phu, Veteran Thinks

Editor's Note — French military censorship in Indochina has prevented correspondents there from filing eyewitness accounts of the bitter fighting raging at the besieged French Union fortress of Dien Bien Phu. Here is a report from a veteran of that epic struggle, a German just returned home after release from the French Foreign Legion.

By ULRICH GRUDINSKI
FLENSBURG, Germany. (AP)—"I see it this way, knowing the men who are fighting for Gen. de Castries—if they can hold out until the last of April or the first of May, when the rainy season begins, the French forces can win at Dien Bien Phu."

That opinion of the bloody north-west Indochina battle was voiced here today by Horst Lemke, a blond 24-year-old German electrician. After five years in the French Foreign Legion, he was among the last to be flown out of the beleaguered fortress where Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries' outnumbered French Union troops are battling legions of the Communist-led Vietminh rebels.

Fine Fighting Spirit
He left Dien Bien Phu March 7, just five days before rebel artillery closed down the only air escape route from the encircled plain. "The fighting spirit of the French Union troops is wonderful and the men have a great and warm loyalty for Gen. de Castries," Lemke said.

"They'd go through blazing fires for him and they fight with bravery" (Please Turn To Page 6, Col. 5)

French Paratroops Flown To Indochina By American Pilots

By CHARLES C. LANE
PARIS (AP)—The U. S. Air Force is ferrying French paratroops to Indochina for dropping into besieged Dien Bien Phu, authoritative sources said today.

These sources said the American pilots would land the troops in a non-combat area, where French pilots or American civilians would ferry them on to the northwest Indochina fortress.

The paratroops were flown from Paris' big Orly airfield Tuesday in U. S. Air Force transports. They have not yet arrived in Indochina.

Fifty Seek Title Of Mrs. America

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Fifty lovely women, candidates for Mrs. America and $15,000 in prizes that go with it, put on bathing suits today but quickly doffed them for house dresses and aprons as the 15th annual contest began.

They won't appear in bathing suits again until Saturday afternoon. Today they wore them for benefit of newspaper and newsreel photographers. The judges, all home economists, won't get interested in their figures until the last day.

Each entry—all are state finalists from every state in the Union and the District of Columbia and Canada—and her family have been assigned to a modern, one-family, gas-equipped home at Ellinor Village here. There she'll simulate a four-day routine in the life of the average American housewife. The judges plan to pick Mrs. America this year on her home-making ability. The bathing suit appearance will count in the final scores, but counting more will be cooking, darning socks and mending shirts and pants, and cleaning house.

Soviet Budget Biggest In History; Military Gets $25,075,000,000

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government announced the biggest budget in its history tonight for 1954. It includes 100,300,000,000 rubles — 17.8 per cent — for national defense.

(The Soviets set an arbitrary exchange rate of four rubles to the dollar. That would make the allotment for the armed forces $25,075,000,000.)

The record budget estimated total expenditures at $62,700,000,000 ($140,675,000,000).

Defect Is Found In Bill To Raise Jobless Benefits

LANSING (AP)—A delicate maneuver was under way today in an attempt to change the Legislature's new unemployment compensation bill without losing the bill or injuring jobless workers.

The bill, raising jobless benefits to new highs, has not yet reached the governor's desk for his approval or veto.

Focal point of the maneuver was an innocent amendment designed to relieve employers of less than six employees from registering with the State Employment Security Commission. An employer must employ eight or more persons before he is subject to the jobless benefit tax.

But the innocent looking amendment was discovered today to have also inadvertently eliminated the right of small employers to come under the law voluntarily.

Clinton Fair, legislative agent of the Michigan Federation of Labor, said some legislative leaders and Gov. Williams have agreed to hold back the bill until the Legislature returns May 13 for its sine die (final) adjournment session. This would allow the Legislature to change the bill to continue voluntary coverage and still allow employers of a few workers to avoid registration.

Fair said the correction May 13 could only be made if a majority of both House and Senate agreed to it before hand.

Senator Joe Speaks At Battle Shrine

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy came to an American shrine of battle today to deliver a last-minute speech before the start of his own bitter clash with the Army.

He speaks at the site of the battle of San Jacinto. Here, 118 years ago, a small band of Texans defeated Mexican forces in the third and final battle of Texas' bid to become an independent nation. The invitation was extended to McCarthy by the San Jacinto chapter of the Sons of the Republic of Texas.

French Fort Needs Milk, Fruit Juices

By LARRY ALLEN
HANOI (AP)—Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries sent out an urgent appeal today for milk and fruit juices to be dropped to the growing ranks of wounded trapped inside Vietminh-ringed Dien Bien Phu.

The commander of the beleaguered fortress addressed his appeal to the people—French and Vietnamese—of Hanoi.

The French have been unable since March 25 to get a plane in to evacuate the hundreds of wounded inside the fortress because of the constant pounding of Western observers in Moscow pointed out that it was difficult to understand the Soviet Union's defense appropriations. For one thing, the state owns and runs the entire economy, fixing its own prices on any equipment needed for the armed forces.

Finance Minister Arseny G. Zverev presented the budget bill to the newly elected Supreme Soviet (parliament). The new Soviet opened its first session Tuesday night.

The 1954 defense appropriation was almost 10 per cent less than the 1953 allotment of 110,200,000,000 rubles.

The 1954 total expenditure is 32,200,000,000 rubles more than last year's 530½ billion.

'Job Not Finished' To Be Williams' Campaign Theme

By JAMES A. MURPHY
DETROIT (AP)—Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams will base his campaign for an unprecedented fourth term as Michigan's chief executive on the premise that the job he set out to do "is not yet finished."

Williams formally announced his candidacy in a combined radio and television hookup from Detroit Tuesday night. If the 43-year-old heir to wealth succeeds he will be the first four-term governor in Michigan's 119 years of statehood. He is one of only three ever to serve three terms.

Moody Again Prospect
The fourth-term announcement wound up speculation that the governor might run against Republican Homer Ferguson in the late

Dust On Autos Is Radioactive

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A scientist at Antioch College at nearby Yellow Springs said Tuesday he found radioactive material in dirt samples taken from tops of cars whose windshields were mysteriously pockmarked.

The scientist, who asked not be named, said the findings were "not unexpected." He said after every A or H-bomb test there may be measurable traces of fallout here or many other places.

"The fallout is measurable but not considered dangerous to humans," he explained.

No pockmarked windshield epidemic has been reported in Dayton but the public information office at nearby Wright-Patterson Air Force Base said 10 windshields on field staff cars were badly damaged by pockmarks.

Senator Fires New Charges In Row With Army

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate investigations subcommittee took a breather today after completing preparations for its long-heralded public hearings of the McCarthy-Army row.

The group announced Tuesday that both sides in the controversy have agreed to subcommittee "ground rules" for the probe—now broadened to include a new charge by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that a top defense official tried to head off an investigation of himself for alleged misconduct.

Show Starts Thursday

Agreement on the rules apparently cleared away the last obstacle to the start of hearings Thursday.

During the rule-making session, McCarthy asked and was granted permission to engage in direct cross-examination of witnesses—a procedure opened at the same time to Army representatives.

McCarthy, the regular chairman of the investigating group, agreed however to step down completely from the subcommittee during the inquiry.

The latest charge fired by Sen. McCarthy was that Asst. Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel joined with Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams in trying to "discredit" the Senate investigations subcommittee McCarthy heads.

Accused of Smear
Hensel, a government official for much of the time since 1941, was named to his present post by President Eisenhower and confirmed by the Senate without objection on Feb. 19.

"Bare-faced lies," he shot back to a statement by McCarthy saying that he was seeking to dodge investigation "for misconduct and possibly for law violations." He accused the senator of an "attempted smear . . . a diversionary move."

Hensel also challenged McCarthy to repeat his accusations in some forum where he would not have the immunity which covered the formal statement to the subcommittee. If McCarthy does that, Hensel said, "I will guarantee a lawsuit."

McCarthy, in Houston, Tex., for a speech late today, said, "I wouldn't cooperate in any delay like that," and he added: "Hensel knows it would take years to do this in a trial. We will be under oath when the committee hears this case and the witnesses will be under oath. He can call any witnesses he wants to."

Coverage On TV

"After that's over . . . I can see no reason why I shouldn't repeat this stuff . . . If at some future time he still wants a lawsuit—and I don't think he will—I see no reason why not have one."

The McCarthy statement said his investigators have established that Hensel drew at least $56,526 in three World War II years from a private ship supply firm operating with government priorities. Hensel was then a high Navy official.

Hensel replied: "The allegations that there has been anything illegal are completely unfounded."

Speeches Take President's Time

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower has decided to prolong his vacation here, after an interruption Thursday and Friday for a series of speeches.

Eisenhower will leave by plane Thursday afternoon for Washington to talk at the annual convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Then he will fly to New York to address a night meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Friday morning he will fly from Washington to Kentucky where he will:

(1) review the tank command at Ft. Knox; (2) visit Abraham Lincoln's birthplace cabin at Hodgenville and speak briefly at Lincoln memorial building ceremonies; (3) speak at Transylvania College's 175th convocation at Lexington.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said Tuesday Eisenhower has decided to return to Augusta Friday night instead of going back to Washington.

Nixon Explains U. S. Policies In Indochina War

CINCINNATI (AP)—Vice President Nixon said Tuesday night the aim of the Eisenhower administration in Indochina "is to hold it without a war involving the United States if we can."

He left unanswered what the United States would do specifically if Indochina could not be held without direct American intervention.

Nixon commented last Friday that the United States might have to send armies to Indochina as a last-ditch effort in the unlikely event the French withdrew their troops. His remarks, delivered "off-the-record" to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, caused a congressional furor.

Unity Best Course

The vice president outlined the administration's foreign policy at an annual University of Cincinnati dinner.

He declared it was the administration's aim and purpose, "to develop policies which will keep us from having to send American boys to fight in Indochina or anywhere else if we possibly can."

A policy of strength and of united action "has the best chance to accomplish that purpose," he said.

If Indochina falls to the Communists, Nixon said, "the balance of power in the world may have shifted to the Communist side sufficiently that the men in the Kremlin and Peking may think that now the time has come when they can begin a world war and have a chance to win."

Cost Over Billion

He said the United States is supporting the forces of the French and of the associated states of Indochina. "We are spending over a billion dollars in Indochina this year and we are spending it because we are fighting a war which involved their interests but also our interests as well."

Nixon said the war in Indochina "is like the war in China which at first glance appeared to be a civil war but actually was a war of aggression by the international Communist conspiracy."

The Republican administration, he said, adopted a "new look" military plan which would rely primarily on "massive, mobile, retaliatory power." He insisted its purpose was not "to involve the United States in an atomic catastrophe which would be national suicide for us and four potential enemies—the purpose is to keep an atomic war or any other kind of war from developing."

Head Of Builders Denies Fleecing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Assn. of Home Builders today disputed charges that the government is millions of dollars out of pocket or that too high rents have resulted from alleged widespread abuses under the government's loan-insurance program.

The association's views were expressed by its president, R. G. Hughes, as the Senate Banking Committee turned to hear what industry spokesmen have to say about allegations that some apartment builders raked in huge and "unconscionable" profits by obtaining oversized government-backed loans either through the dishonesty or inefficiency of Federal Housing Administration officials.

"The impression that the government has lost millions of dollars and that tenants have been charged excessive rents is, in my opinion, erroneous," Hughes said in prepared testimony.

Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews of the Internal Revenue Service told the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures Tuesday that builders of 1,149 apartment projects under a now-defunct "middle income" housing program piled up 65 million dollars in excessive profits by the inflated loan guarantee device. Andrews said his agents so far have found no evidence of tax fraud.

Narcotics Ring Broken Up In San Quentin

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—A narcotics ring operating within the walls of San Quentin Prison has been uncovered and broken up.

Acting Warden Douglas Riggs said Tuesday a cache of 400 morphine tablets was found hidden in the hospital surgery ward and three convicts have admitted complicity.

Riggs said it was probable that Boyd Van Winkle, slayer of a San Francisco policeman who cheated the gas chamber by taking an overdose of narcotics, got his supply from the ring.

Van Winkle committed suicide Dec. 28, two weeks before he was scheduled to be executed.

Power Contract Meeting Called

Further discussion of a request that Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative Association locate a proposed electric generating plant within the Escanaba city limits is tentatively scheduled by the Escanaba City Council for 7:30 p. m. April 28.

The meeting was requested by Wynand Nieuwenkamp, Gladstone, Alger-Delta manager, who wrote the City Council to report that Max Stanley, consulting electric engineer on the proposed power plant, would be here on April 28. Nieuwenkamp advised the Council that he believed such a meeting could resolve problems of location and then it would take only a short time until Alger-Delta would be ready to submit a proposed power contract to the Council for consideration. Location of the proposed power plant in the city might reduce costs of connection, Nieuwenkamp noted.

Alger-Delta has offered Escanaba a 10-year contract to supply "surplus" or "excess" power from a generating plant that would be built with money loaned by the Rural Electrification Administration.

Presently the City Council's power advisory committee, a group of nine local men, is studying a second phase of the power shortage problem—the construction by Escanaba of its own municipal power plant.

Members of the power advisory committee, which is headed by Chairman Todd Gayeff, will be invited to attend the April 28 meeting of the City Council with Alger-Delta representatives.

Soaking Rain Puts Finish To Fire Threat In Area

Rains in the Escanaba area, which up to 7:30 a. m. amounted to slightly over .7 of an inch, have eased the threat of forest fires for the time being.

Fire towers in the Hiawatha Forest area have been manned and two-way radio equipped, alerted to recent tinder dry condition of grass in open and marshy areas. The situation has not been serious in forest areas in the northern part of the district where considerable snow still lies on the ground. To the south the threat has been more than usually serious.

The most serious fire threat thus far this season occurred at Garth Point Tuesday afternoon. William Speers, of Escanaba, at his cabin at the time, looked out to find the place surrounded by grass fires. A call was immediately put in to the Rapid River forestry station and a pump truck was dispatched to the scene. About half an acre was burned before the fire was under control. Three cottages and a large wooded area had been endangered.

Decision Made:

Council Separates Fire And Police Departments

By unanimous vote the Escanaba City Council in special session Tuesday afternoon abolished the office of city safety director and returned administration of the fire and police departments to a fire chief and a police chief, the system in operation here until 1949. The two chiefs will be appointed by City Manager A. V. Aronson following examinations to assist him in determining the men best qualified for the jobs. The examinations are now being prepared and applicants will be limited to residents of Escanaba.

The City Council did not establish salaries for the positions of fire chief and police chief, which are not under civil service. Until the appointments are made administration of the two departments will head in the city manager.

Better Fishing Plan Discussed

Members of the Delta County Sportsmen's club last night heard Cliff Long of the fish division of the Michigan Conservation Department state that the Ford River might be developed into a much better fish producer than it is at present. Long's comments on the Ford River were in reply to questions from club members who are seeking to have the stream improved for fishing.

The Ford River headwaters furnish some fine trout fishing and its lower reaches offer some of the better bass fishing in this area, but for a long stretch in between it offers little return to the fisherman.

Long presented a slide illustrated talk on many aspects of fishing. He followed up his talk with a question and answer session.

Tracing attempts of government agencies to provide better fishing over the past 80 years in Michigan, Long told how, in turn, the four principal tools used in dealing with the matter were each hailed as a cure-all. These tools, regulation of take, introduction of new species, propagation and planting of fish and habitat improvement, he said are now recognized to have a place, but are no longer regarded as final answers.

Following a report on possible sites for a clubhouse, a decision was reached to hold a special meeting in about two weeks which will be devoted to evaluating reports on the most promising.

The teen-age members of the club served a lunch at the close of the meeting.

Soo Boy Stuck In Silt Muck Is Rescued By Police

SAULT STE. MARIE—The city plans to fence off a mucky silt deposit east of the high school athletic field where a young boy became mired for about half an hour late Saturday afternoon.

The boy, Billy Campbell, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Colin Campbell of 1003 Swinton St., was freed by three Sault police officers and three other men, but only after they pushed the silt away from his leg, and three pulled on him to free him.

The boy was taken to the War Memorial Hospital for treatment and was released Sunday. He had been playing in the area.

Strike Notice Authorized By Birds Eye Union

Birds Eye Local 3168, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, AFL, last night authorized a strike notice to the Birds Eye Veneer Company by an overwhelming vote of the union members.

James Doran, union president, reported that between 150 and 160 of the 190 union members attended the special union meeting at the Teamsters Hall and only four votes were cast against the proposal to authorize the issuance of a strike notice.

The union charges the company with an unfair labor practice in refusing to bargain according to the rules of the National Labor Relations Board.

Doran said that the negotiations for a new contract were started last November but were subsequently delayed by the illness of Juel Lee, president and general manager of the company. Bargaining was resumed again in January but no progress has been made towards a new union contract, Doran reported.

Issues involved are wages, vacation schedule, insurance and several minor fringe benefits, according to the union spokesman.

The present union contract expires May 1 and the union contends that the union members will not work after that date unless satisfactory progress is assured in the drafting of a new labor contract.

Doran said that the conciliation service may be requested to step in. If no progress develops, the union charge will go to the National Labor Relations Board for hearing, Doran reported.

Teisberg Resigns Boy Scout Council Executive Position

D. W. Teisberg, Scout executive of Hiawathaland Council, has resigned his position effective as of July 1 to accept a position on the national staff for the Boy Scouts of America.

Teisberg came to the Hiawathaland Council in the summer of 1951 to assume the position of Scout executive. Prior to that time he had held positions with the Boy Scouts of America in four other local Councils over a period of 14 years.

He has been active in community affairs in Marquette, where he resides, has been a member of the Rotary Club, American Legion, Chairman of his church Trustees, President of the Men's Club in church and Vice-President of the Superior Conference of the Lutheran Brotherhood covering the Upper Peninsula and the northern half of Wisconsin.

A selections committee will be appointed shortly to set up interviews for men to replace Teisberg.

Club For Retired Will Be Started Thursday Evening

Men and women of Escanaba and vicinity who have attained "retirement age," are invited to attend a meeting at the Escanaba Youth Center at the corner of Third Ave. and 14th St. Thursday evening at 7 where the formation of a social club for people of this age group will be up for discussion and action.

Art Petersen, recreational director of the youth center, is issuing the invitation and strongly urges that those interested in becoming members come to the meeting and help, by their suggestions in planning the activities for the new club.

No club dues will be required and no fees nor charges for the meetings will be made, Petersen explains. Use of the building on Thursday evening is free. Projects promoted, however, must be self-supporting.

Bertha LaChapelle, assistant director at the youth center, has volunteered to help direct the new organization and will serve without pay.

The primary purpose of the proposed organization is to provide people who have retired with wholesome recreation. What this form of recreation will be, will be left entirely up to the people who wish to enroll in the project. People beyond 50 years of age are eligible.

Big Timber Wolf Shot By Farmer

The killing of a large male timber wolf at the Paul Van Damme farm near Watson early today disproved the belief that wolves inhabit only wilderness areas and avoid contact with civilization.

Mrs. Van Damme was awakened shortly before 3 a. m., today by the snarling and barking of the farm dogs, a police dog and a collie. She went to the window and saw what she believed to be a porcupine.

Arousing her husband, she led the way with a flashlight and Paul followed with his shotgun.

The ray of light pierced the darkness—and revealed a large timber wolf standing looking at them about 30 feet from the house. Paul fired and the wolf dropped.

The wolf measured 66 inches long from nose to the tip of its tail and weighed 85 pounds. Conservation officers at district headquarters in Escanaba, where Paul presented the wolf to collect the $15 bounty, said it was the largest they had ever seen.

Tracks of the wolf have been seen in the vicinity of the Van Damme farm, located about 6 miles northeast of Watson, for the past couple of years by Rene Vandebush, employed at the Van Damme farm. When the wolf invaded the farm early today Vandebush was also awakened and was getting dressed to go out and investigate when Van Damme shot the animal.

Site For School At Stephenson Is In Litigation

MENOMINEE—A suit involving property, sought by the Stephenson Township Board of Education as a site for a new elementary school, began Tuesday afternoon before a Menominee Circuit Court jury with Judge Richard Nebel presiding. The property adjoins the school district's Sawbridge Athletic Field in Stephenson.

Issues in the suit are whether there is necessity for acquiring the property by condemnation and a reasonable price for the purchase. Barstow & Barstow are attorneys for the Stephenson School Board and Doyle & Doyle represent Mrs. Laura Rouse, Chicago, principal owner of the property.

One of the objects of the suit is to clear title to a portion of the property because the deed is incorrectly recorded as to specific location.

There is apparently no dispute between the litigants, Attorney George Barstow told the jury in his opening statement, in which Defence Attorney Kenneth O. Doyle concurred. Barstow said a tentative agreement between the school board and Mrs. Rouse had been reached, fixing the purchase price at $3,000.

Because of the technicalities involved, only free - holders (owners of taxable real property) are permitted to sit on a jury in such cases under state law. This requirement resulted in dismissal of four of the jurors who had been drawn to hear the case.

SAULT STE. MARIE—The employment picture in the Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan area has brightened a great deal during the past month, says Walter Anderson, Sault MESC manager. On April 15, 1954, there were approximately 870 persons unemployed as compared to 1,110 on March 15, 1954. The decrease is due mainly to the recall of workers at the Drummond Dolomite Quarry at Drummond Island, Michigan. It has been noted that during the past month there has been a slight increase in the number of employed in construction activities and also in the retail trades, said Anderson.

Gov. Williams, With Eye On U.S. Presidency, Seeks Fourth Term

GOV. Williams' announcement yesterday that he has decided to seek a fourth term as Michigan's chief executive opens the floodgates to political hopefuls for a variety of elective offices.

The governor's decision to seek reelection was not surprising. Several months ago it seemed certain that he would make a try for the U. S. Senate seat now held by Homer Ferguson. His political allies, however, have been urging Gov. Williams to seek a fourth term as a means of strengthening the party ticket.

It is no secret that Gov. Williams' long range ambition is to occupy the White House. His political colleagues have contended—and apparently they have convinced the governor—that his chances for the Presidency would be better if he sought and won a fourth term as governor than if he would seek a seat in the U. S. Senate.

The governor's chances of winning naturally are better for reelection to the governorship than they would be in the Senate race. It is always easier to retain what you have than to get something someone else has.

Now that Gov. Williams has declared himself the lineup for political offices will be clarified rapidly. The announcement not only helps Democratic politicians to make up their minds but it also will help many Republicans. There is no doubt that if Gov. Williams had decided to seek the Senate seat rather than to run for reelection, there would be a brisk rush of both Democratic and Republican candidates for the vacated chair at the state Capitol.

For a man with the political ambitions of Gov. Williams his decision to run for governor again makes sense. No man has ever held the governorship in Michigan four times. If Mr. Williams can turn the trick, it'll be a political accomplishment of more than state-wide interest. Of course, he doesn't win the governorship simply by tossing his hat into the ring. The last two trips up were hectic ones for Williams. On both occasions he squeaked by with the narrowest of margins.

There is no denying the fact that Williams is the hottest candidate the Democrats in Michigan could put up—for governor or any other office.

Underdog's Day

LITTLE Ben Hogan has pulled off so many golfing miracles we have come to expect them in endless procession. There must inevitably be some disappointment, therefore, when he fails to capture a big tournament, as he did the Masters' at Augusta, Ga.

But folks who like to cheer for the underdog can toss off a few hurrahs for the man who beat Hogan in a playoff by a single stroke—Sam Snead, one of the real pile drivers in the business.

Slammin' Sammy has been knocking at the door of the throne room so long his knuckles are raw. Year after year, he never seemed to be able to take the big ones he wanted. So it is pretty good balm for the compassionate souls among us that Snead finally did crack through.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

Do you know which letter of the alphabet starts more English words than any other? What would you guess? "A"? "N"? Well, the answer is "S." Nearly one-tenth of all the words in our language start with "S." So today's word game will consist of ten "S" objectives which will enliven anyone's vocabulary.

Here's how we play the game. For each numbered word you will find one of almost the same meaning among the four words and phrases following it. Thus, the word numbered 1 may mean practically the same as the word lettered c. Write this down as 1c. When you have written down all the answers, check against the correct pairings at the bottom. Here is how we score the quiz: ten correct, excellent; eight to nine, superior; six to seven, good; five or less, poor.

- 1.—Sham: (a) ruinous; (b) shameful; (c) false; (d) shuffling.
- 2.—Sententious: (a) sentimental; (b) pompous, high-sounding; (c) watchful; (d) sensitive.
- 3.—Slovenly: (a) exquisite; (b) lovable; (c) slow-moving; (d) untidy.
- 4.—Somber: (a) dark, gloomy; (b) heavy-sounding; (c) Mexican hat; (d) sleepy.
- 5.—Spontaneous: (a) brightly shining; (b) gushing; (c) impulsive, unforced; (d) parasitical.
- 6.—Spurious: (a) indisputable; (b) false; (c) gushing forth; (d) leave.
- 7.—Specious: (a) exemplary; (b) sample; (c) specimen; (d) deceptive.
- 8.—Suave: (a) Turkish; (b) fat and greasy; (c) smooth, urbane; (d) easily persuaded.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The international and political furor kicked up by Vice President Nixon's speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors has now subsided, leaving two main points very clear:

1. Dicky Nixon looms more and more definitely as the man Eisenhower has picked to succeed him in 1956.

2. There is no question whatsoever that the Eisenhower administration contemplates the use of armed force in Indo-China if necessary. Despite a modifying statement by the State Department following Nixon's speech, both the use of American ground troops and small atomic bombs have been under discussion.

DEGREE IN ORATORY

The Nixon speech before the editors was not only a masterpiece; it was calculated to win him recognition from a powerful group of opinion-makers. Even Democratic editors who didn't like Nixon came away admitting that the college degree he took in public speaking was paying dividends. Jim Bassett Nixon's old public-relations man, now pro for the GOP national committee, purred as he listened.

Nixon spoke for one hour without reading a manuscript and scarcely looking at his notes. His delivery had force, earnestness and a grasp of his subject. He was not partisan. The first half hour was devoted to a disarming exposition of the problems of southeast Asia, interlaced with a pleasurable variety of personal "I was there" observations.

For instance, he told about the difficulty of getting along with cantankerous but courageous President Syngman Rhee in Korea. Then in almost the same breath he quoted a British general who was asked what was needed most in Indo-China.

"Nothing would stand us in such good stead," said the general, "as another Syngman Rhee."

JUNGLE PROBLEMS

The latter part of Nixon's talk was devoted to the difficulties faced in Indo-China, the political problems of the French Laniel government which could easily be overthrown because of Indo-China; the great problem of creating a spiritual leadership among the native peoples; and the U. S. alternative policy of appeasing Red China by admitting its Communist government to a seat on the United Nations.

Someone has to grit his teeth and face up to things, Nixon warned. . . . It would be more expedient to compromise by giving Red China a seat on the UN, but we must adhere to principle. . . . The administration has a duty to the higher interests of the nation, even if unpopular. . . . It is necessary to take definite action despite the handicaps. . . . American policy cannot be bogged down by uninformed public opinion on one hand or reluctant allies on the other. . . . We may have to go it alone in Indo-China even though unpopular. We must hold the line at any cost regardless of political repercussions.

Note—General reaction among editors was that the vice president did a brilliant job and enhanced himself with the newspaper profession, but that the American public was a long way from being ready to send troops to Indo-China.

NO TRIAL BALLOON

Some editors figured the Nixon fireside chat was a mere trial balloon sent up by the administration's No. 2 man, so that Eisenhower himself, if necessary, could deny it later. This writer deduces differently for the following reasons:

A. Ike has repeatedly, deliberately relied on Nixon to speak for him no later than the reply to Adlai Stevenson. He has also let Nixon carry the ball as negotiator with Joe McCarthy, as the pacifier on Capitol Hill, and as the all-around political handyman of the administration.

This began partly because Ike gets both bored and tired while Dick is an eager beaver; partly because Ike doesn't understand politics and Dicky loves politics; partly because Ike hates political chores and the vice presidency is a job where time hangs heavily on one's hands. Subbing for the President began as an accident, but has now become a habit—a habit likely to be recognized when the Republicans start looking for Ike's successor in 1956.

B. The plan to stand firm in Indo-China, with U. S. forces if necessary, was drawn by the National Security Council to which Ike now delegates major decisions on foreign policy. Its Indo-Chinese decision has now become the hard-and-fixed policy of the Eisenhower administration.

As reported by this column April 8, eight days before the Nixon speech: "The current education campaign to prepare the American people for war in Indo-China was preceded by a special study by the National Security Council. . . . The sending of ground troops has been under discussion. They would replace French metropolitan troops, thus relieving the political furor in Paris where it's demanded that French troops come home. . . . U. S. admirals propose sending two or more airplane carriers." (The carriers are now off the Indo-China coast.)

CLOSE TO WAR

Again on April 6, ten days before the Nixon speech, this column reported: "The White House has made careful but pointed overtures to Democratic leaders to get their support in case the Eisenhower administration becomes militarily involved in the jungles of Indo-China."

Again on April 12, it was reported: "How near the United States has been to full-scale intervention, even war in Indo-China, was emphasized at a secret meeting between Secretary of State Dulles and Adm. Arthur Radford with top congressional leaders of both political parties. . . . They proposed two moves which startled Republican congressmen as much as Democrats. . . . Send airplane carriers from the Philippines; also long-range bombers based on Manila. . . . Second, a joint resolution by Congress giving the President blanket authority to do anything he deemed advisable. . . ."

Questions and Answers

Q—How long has the Congressional Record been printing Congressional debates?

A—Since 1873. The Record, which reports House and Senate debate verbatim, was preceded by the Congressional Globe (1833-73), the Register of Debates (1824-37) and the Annals of Congress (1789-1824).

"Why Don't You Work the Other Side of the Street?"

Wrestling Has Its Charms To Soothe Blind Organist

By TOM PEOPLES

NEA Staff Correspondent

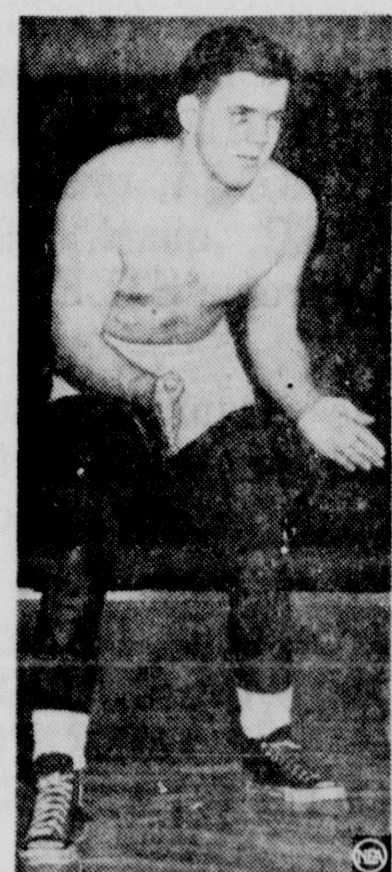

BEREA, O. (NEA)—"Wrestling provides the ideal exercise and relaxation for me to break the monotony of my music studies." That's how Jim Taylor matter-of-factly describes his dual role as a top organist and grappler on the campus of Baldwin Wallace College.

What makes this combination of talents even more amazing is that Jim is totally blind.

Now 20, and a strapping 167-pounder, he barely remembers the playground accident which cost him his eyesight when he was three.

But being blind wasn't going to stop a Jim Taylor. He puts it this way: "A person can adapt himself to any situation. He must accept it and go on from there."

Taylor attended the State School for the Blind at Columbus, O., for 12 years and it was there that he took his first interest in wrestling.

AS WRESTLER, Jim even calls on sense of hearing.

In his first year, as a high school senior, he finished third in the Central Ohio A.A.U. meet, open to anyone without a professional record.

Moving on to Baldwin Wallace, where he is now a freshman in the Conservatory of Music, Jim first attracted attention when he copped the Intramural title in the 167-pound class.

From there it was only a short hop to the varsity team. In his first appearance with the varsity he pinned his opponent in the match against State Teachers College at Indiana, Pa. For the entire first year of collegiate grappling, Jim won four matches and lost five.

Three of his wins were by falls and one on a decision. All of his losses were by decisions.

Jim says he doesn't know whether his feeling for music helped his wrestling, but he does know being blind doesn't handicap it.

Once you make contact, he says, it is as easy for a blind person to wrestle as anyone else. In fact, says Jim, most wrestlers close their eyes when working. They can feel the balance points."

AS MUSIC STUDENT at Baldwin Wallace College, Jim Taylor learns by braille, plays by memory, has near A-average marks.

In Jim's matches his opponent generally touches his hand to let him know where he is at the start of the match. But once in the recent Northeastern A.A.U. meet his opponent didn't make contact.

Faced with this situation, Jim called on his sense of hearing to track his man down. He said he could hear the man circling him and he kept turning with him until they finally made contact.

On campus Jim is treated like any other student. He likes to be on his own and seldom has anyone leading him. Now an active member of Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity, Jim had to serve the usual pledge duties.

One of these was to wake up the actives in the morning. Jim printed numbers to braille for all of the beds. When an active wanted to be called early in the morning he hung the number on a hook at the end of his bed. Jim then made his early morning rounds and if the number was on the hook the active was hooked out of bed.

Jim would like to be a professional organist or do choral conducting and arranging when he graduates.

His prospects should be excellent. His grades are near A-average, although he must learn all musical compositions from braille and play everything from memory.

And as though playing the organ and wrestling weren't enough Jim finds time to do a little swimming, piano playing and clarinet tooting, too.

Good Evening...

RAKING THE YARD—Many books have been written on home-help subjects, telling the stay-at-homes how to paint the house, raise rhubarb, remove or apply varnish, and how to clean wallpaper.

But one of the most neglected subjects is How to Rake the Yard. Now this is an important matter, because the man who knows exactly how (and when) to rake the yard can escape many less agreeable chores.

Best time to rake the yard is when spring housecleaning strikes the better half in all its fury. By raking the yard a husband can avoid: 1—Cleaning the basement; 2—Washing screens and putting them up; 3—Raking the yard.

Because raking the yard is only another name for standing around in the sunshine and letting the wind blow through your hair, if any.

ASSEMBLING THE TOOLS—No husband can rake the yard without first finding the rake. This in itself is somewhat time consuming, but nonetheless pleasant.

A man can rummage around in the basement for awhile, idly turning over old paint cans, examining the vise on the work bench to see why it won't close, and otherwise speculating on raking the yard.

Concentrating on the search for the rake will inevitably lead a man to the garage, where a similar inventory of old boards, some with and some without nails pulled, can be enjoyed. These are the boards you have been saving to make a fence. You started saving about 10 years ago.

Eventually your wife will say, for no reason at all except to prove that women are more efficient than men, that the rake is in the corner of the raspberry patch where you dropped it last fall and never picked it up.

PLANNING THE WORK—There is more to raking a yard than just locating the rake, as any intelligent man will tell you. The work must be planned if it is to be accomplished swiftly and efficiently. Only unimaginative people without organizing ability rake a yard without first surveying, mapping, planning.

In our yard, for example, there are a number of factors to consider before actually launching the rake upon its appointed course. We noted the rhubarb was beginning to prod through the ground near the garage, that the dwarf iris looked a bit sickly (probably needs transplanting), and the oriental poppies are spreading fast.

Having observed these facts of nature and the season, we sat down for awhile to consider the next step in our raking program. Some birds came along and distracted us. One was a starling with a voice like a rusty hinge and another was an oversized something with wings that kept trying, unsuccessfully, to wedge itself into the hole in the wren house.

THE CHATTY NEIGHBOR—We had just about decided to get the oil can for the starling and push the whistling bird into the wren house although it wasn't a wren when one of our neighbors came out of his house and started poking around his backyard.

Now if there is anything more distracting than neighbors when you want to settle down for an afternoon of raking the yard, I don't know what it is.

Here we had our work all mapped out—and now we were going to have to chat with the neighbor. There was no doubt about it. You just can't ignore a neighbor.

Whatever it was in his garden that kept him so occupied we couldn't see. So we strolled over to see what it was—just to be neighborly, of course.

We fell into a conversation about set onions and hot beds and politics and how you can plant Easter lilies outdoors and have them bloom again.

This went on for quite some time, because you can't be impolite and interrupt your neighbor and tell him you have to get back and rake the yard. So you stay and chat some more about petunias, Indo-China, how to prune raspberry bushes and Liberae.

You are vaguely aware that a voice is calling. It is your wife and you vaguely in reply.

Then you return to your yard to begin raking and become aware that it is now too late to get started that day. So you go in to supper. A man always has to have some project to keep him working around the house.

The Doctor Says... Fear Hinders, Never Helps In Ceaseless War on Cancer

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

The apparently mysterious way in which cancer attacks its victims causes this disease to be feared even more than other equally serious conditions.

Also, there is a general impression that cancer is attacking more and more people. This impression needs clarification.

If fewer people die in infancy or youth, then obviously more will survive to an age when cancer is more common. This will naturally give the impression that more people have cancer. This explains, in part, the apparent increase in incidence of cancer.

It is true that all the causes of cancer are not yet known. However, in some animals cancer will appear in generation after generation, and cancer seems to run more in some families than in others.

We know further that in susceptible animals certain irritating substances like tar can produce cancer, whereas if the irritating substance is not used the animals remain free of the disease.

Many other facts also are known. Thus it is not correct to say that nothing at all is known of the cause of cancer, but only that we do not yet know all about it.

TREATMENT of cancer has greatly improved. Many cancers can be reached by surgery which could not be attacked some years ago. Radium and X-rays are also used successfully in treatment of some cancers, either with or without the additional aid of surgery.

With the general (and correct) belief that cancer, if caught early can be treated more successfully has come an increasing fear of the disease.

SO SUCCESSFUL has been the campaign to make known the benefits of early diagnosis that many people are constantly in a state of alarm about cancer, even when they have been assured that it is absent.

There is no one certain test which will reveal the presence or absence of cancer anywhere in the body. Nevertheless, a person who has been examined for cancer, and in whom it has not been found, should cease to worry. Worry will accomplish nothing and will merely make life a misery of fear.

THE ANSWER to the cancer problem is research and investigation. Results cannot be expected in a short time unless there is some lucky break or brilliant observation. But in the long run some clue should be found to the cause or treatment of this disease which will still further improve the present outlook.

The funds provided by the American Cancer Society, which is conducting its public campaign this month, are used in large part to support the necessary research.

Senator Helps Romance Split By Red Tape And Iron Curtain

By KENNETH O. GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D., Okla.) is playing Cupid in an international romance born behind the Iron Curtain. But he is up against red tape here and the threat of Red tyranny abroad.

Kerr is helping Pvt. Homer "Jimmie" Cox of Oklahoma City reunite with a raven-haired girl from Vienna, Austria. They met while both were prisoners in Russia.

Jimmie recently announced he is planning to fly to Vienna to marry and bring home pretty 26-year-old Inge Brenner. To do this he must land in the Soviet sector of the city, and thus risk returning to territory where for four years he was imprisoned by the Reds.

"I have to take the chance. It doesn't look like there is any other way," Jimmie said after he made the decision.

Senator Kerr and his staff in Washington are now doing everything they can to clear the way for the dangerous journey. There is a considerable amount of red tape to be taken care of both here and in Europe.

Since the day the Senator learned Jimmie was in the hands of the Russians he has been looking out for him. He and the Oklahoma Congressional delegation prodded the Government to protest Jimmie's imprisonment. When the Army delayed his return to the United States after he had been released by the Russians last Christmas Day, Kerr again took action.

In this case, Kerr's good intentions nearly busted up the romance. The Army hastily complied and flew Jimmie home. But he wanted to go to Vienna and marry dimple-cheeked Inge. Naturally she thought he had forgotten all about her. It took a long distance call from Oklahoma City to patch things up.

Jimmie has not seen Inge since

INGE BRENNER: She told the world Jimmie was alive.

JIMMIE COX: He wooed Inge Brenner with macaroni.

last October when the Russians freed her from Camp Schorkov, 300 miles from Moscow. It was there they met.

He had been kidnapped by the Communists in Berlin in 1949 while serving as an M.P. in the Army. She was dragged off the streets of Vienna one night in 1950 and taken away by the Russians.

It was love at first sight, says Jimmie. This had to be since she didn't speak English and he knew only a little Russian and German. He wooed her, however, with a rare delicacy he managed to acquire: macaroni. As best he could Jimmie told her that some day they would go to America and feast on Oklahoma barbecue.

Not long after that, in the drab surroundings of the Soviet prison camp, the two solemnly made a pact to meet and marry when free.

Inge was the first to be released. Once in Vienna, despite the threat of Russian revenge, she told the world Jimmie was alive. Her letters to his family were the first they or anyone else had heard of him since he disappeared.

"I'd probably still be there if it hadn't been for that girl going free," he said after being released.

Today she lives in fear of Communist agents. It will be as dangerous for her to try and leave

RHEUMATISM MADE ME A REGULAR WEATHER VANE

"I became so crippled up before a storm that I could forecast the weather," says Mr. William Moran, Sr., 4021 Porter Street, Detroit.

"I've had rheumatism off and on for the past thirty years and rheumatism moved all over my body and up under my ribs. It wouldn't always tell when it was going to rain wasn't until I started on my second storm, as rheumatism moved, I told my doctor I struck my back, shoulder and arms. It was especially painful in the fall and winter. The last two years I have been

Mr. Wm. Moran terribly stiff and sore and could hardly stand. My hands got so swollen that I couldn't close them. I drive a big truck and have to load and unload it every day, so you can imagine how bad I felt. I missed a few days work, but often suffered so much I shouldn't have been working. When I came home nights, I was tired and the stiff and all bushed out. Sometimes I went to work with so much liniment on me that it smelled like a walking drug store. I tried all kinds of vitamins; in fact everything that came along, without getting any relief. I kept seeing ads for O-JIB-WA BITTERS in the newspaper and thought I would try a bottle. Take Government Out Of Business, Lobbyists Ask

(By Congressional Quarterly)
WASHINGTON — "Government Property For Sale!"

That sign will be hung, figuratively, on many federally-run enterprises, ranging from housing to electric power, if a new coalition of business lobbies has its way.

The combination, consisting of National Associated Businessmen, Inc., Chamber of Commerce of the U. S., and Committee on Federal Tax Policy and various allies, has launched a drive to curtail federal commercial activities and drastically reduce the "welfare state."

Tagged by various labels—"Get Government out of Business;" "Re-privatize Public Enterprise!"

"Buy Out the Government"—this drive is aiming its economy ax at such basic functions as farm assistance, veterans' programs, aid to education, public power, public housing, and others.

It apparently has the full financial blessing of industrial and banking interests who want to "stop creeping socialism." "Help balance the budget," and "reduce bureaucracy."

The campaign also has support in Congress. On February 9 the House Government Operations Subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations, headed by Rep. Cecil M. Harden (R Ind.), said in a report that federal business operations are extensive and "this trend must be stopped."

On April 14 Rep. Frank C. Osmer, Jr. (R N. J.) introduced a bill to terminate federal activities conducted in competition with private enterprise. The measure would create an Anti-Government-Competition Board for this purpose.

National Associated Businessmen, which together with National Tax Equality Association has long fought for additional taxes on co-operatives, is mailing out letters to Congressmen, and thousands of copies of illustrated literature, reports, speeches, and studies calling for turning over major areas of federal activity to private business.

Promoted By C-C
These urge adoption of a plan for sale of government-owned dams and other facilities, proposed by Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Electric Co. and wartime director of defense mobilization.

Sponsoring the NAB - Wilson plan are heads of several of America's largest businesses, including Gen. Robert E. Wood, board chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., and Charles R. Hook, board chairman of Arco Steel Corp. Col. Robert R. McCormick, Chicago Tribune publisher is also a sponsor.

The Chamber of Commerce is plugging an extensive campaign to "re-privatize public enterprise." Chamber officials have already contacted Congressional committees and federal officials to promote this program.

Still another plan for withdrawing government, partially or wholly, from education, agriculture, housing, power, lending, and other major fields, was announced April 12 by the Committee on

Australia Gain In Population Is Cut

CANBERRA (P) — Australia gained only 42,883 people from migration in 1953, less than half the 1952 figure. There were 74,915 arrivals but 32,032 people, including 25,295 Australians, left the country.

Many Australians who leave the country are young people in their early twenties going chiefly to England to study or gain experience. Many marry and remain away indefinitely.

Strictly A Cash-And-Carry Business

Jeweler Leonard Trank, left, of Los Angeles, Calif., didn't foresee anything when he refused a customer's $168.69 check. The customer went to a bank and drew out the amount in pennies. The bewildered Trank is shown with the money—16,869 pennies. Officers of a Salina, Colo., loan company have a back-breaking job after a patron decided to pay off his loan with 3000 silver dollars. Shown taking the money to the bank in a wheelbarrow are: C. H. Kelleher, Theo Jacobs and Alice Chinn. Standing in the doorway ready to accept the money is banker J. F. White.

Wall Street

NEW YORK — The stock market advanced today under strong demand for aircraft.

Douglas Aircraft opened up four points as it reported its latest three month profits almost double the year-ago period. Douglas climbed to more than a five point gain, then began to settle back.

Other plane makers, presumably ready to report similar strong earnings, followed suit. Boeing jumped more than two points and United Aircraft and Republic Aviation about a point.

Other price changes were generally minor fractions.

Making progress were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Caterpillar, Philco, American Telephone, Kennecott, Allied Chemical, General Electric, Sinclair Oil and Pan American Airways.

Lower were General Motors, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Con Edison, Homestake, American Can, Union Carbide, Westinghouse Air Brake, Southern Railway, Santa Fe and Dow Chemical.

Search For Long Lost Brother Is Ended At Norway

NORWAY—Sixteen years of arduous searching by Mrs. Clarence Dutelle, of Norway, was climaxed here recently when she was reunited with her brother, David LeClair, whom she hadn't seen in 43 years.

The long separation began in 1911 when their parents, Mr. and Mrs. David LeClair Sr., were divorced in DePere, Wis., when Mrs. Sheridan Road, of cutting through private property to avoid a traffic signal has been dismissed. The ticket was issued by Escanaba police.

Meanwhile the mother and son had remained together until 1918 when the boy was placed in the Lutheran Home for Children in Wittenberg, Wis. Shortly after, the mother, who was living in Iron Mountain, died in a flu epidemic and it is believed that she is buried in the Norway township cemetery.

Use Russian Weapons

In all, Lemke said, there were then about 12,000 French Union soldiers in the besieged garrison when he left. Reliable sources in Indochina believe paratroop reinforcements have swelled it to about 14,000 now, though the French have never announced their force's size. Attacking them are an estimated 45,000 Vietnamese.

Lemke said the Vietnamese "come in at night, spilling out of the jungle around Dien Bien Phu. They swarm in like locusts and they burst out of their foxholes."

"Those devils are using Russian-made guns—and good ones too—tommyguns, mortars, artillery and antiaircraft guns. Their radar-guided antiaircraft fire is murderous."

"But their ground troops like to fight with their knives and they swing them savagely in hand-to-hand fighting."

"Sometimes it was like a nightmare to meet them in the light of the moon and to listen to their wild cries as they charged."

legal or even unethical in my financial or governmental history is both malicious and dishonest. . . . Sen. McCarthy knew he was lying."

Against this background, the investigations subcommittee made ready to begin its hearings Thursday. Coverage is planned by major television networks.

Hensel's name was injected into the case Tuesday in McCarthy's 5,000-word "bill of particulars" replying to Army charges that he and two of his aides tried by "improper means" to win preferential treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former subcommittee consultant.

"Scandalous Malice"

McCarthy, submitting the statement for himself and the two aides under attack, Roy M. Cohn, the subcommittee's chief counsel, and Francis Carr, its staff director, said Hensel wanted to discredit the subcommittee because he himself was under investigation.

McCarthy pictured Hensel as exercising "influence and guidance" in the preparation of the Army report attacking him and his aides while himself under investigation by the subcommittee.

Hensel, who was the Defense Department's general counsel until his recent appointment as assistant secretary, said McCarthy's references to him "reached the high mark of scandalous malice and the low mark to cowardly irresponsibility."

He said he had disclosed his financial relations with the ship supply firm in a letter to the internal revenue commissioner Feb. 11, 1946. He said his tax returns were fully investigated in 1948 and 1949 and were "settled and cleared."

No Capital Invested

He said he has had an inactive partnership in the Arthur L. Peirson & Co. supply firm but derived no profit from it. He said he had withdrawn only enough to cover his federal and New York state income taxes on any profits credited to him on company books.

He told newsmen the firm is now being liquidated and that "if I'm very lucky, I might get $10,000 out of it, all told, after 11 years." He said he had helped the firm to organize but had invested no capital in it.

McCarthy's statement categorically denied that he, Cohn or Carr had exerted any improper pressures on the Army to gain special favors for Schine.

It also renewed an earlier charge that Stevens and Adams had tried to halt a subcommittee probe of what McCarthy has called Army "coddling" of Communists in uniform.

BACKED BY BOSS

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Wilson said today he believes H. Struve Hensel is a "competent, honest man" and doesn't believe Hensel masterminded Army charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) as the senator contends.

If he didn't believe in Hensel, Wilson told a news conference, Hensel would not have his present post of assistant secretary of defense.

A reporter asked Wilson whether

Canadian Coed Sorry She Spied

OTTAWA — An attractive former coed at the University of Michigan says she's sorry she spied on several fellow students for the FBI.

Daphne Price, 19, held a news conference in the lobby of an Ottawa hotel Tuesday night to explain her actions.

An affidavit, made public earlier Tuesday, revealed Miss Price's activities as an informer. In the document she admitted reporting to the FBI on Michigan graduate student Edward H. Shaffer. Shaffer, from Pittsburgh, has been subpoenaed to appear before the House Un-American Activities Subcommittee when it holds hearings in Hensel "masterminded" preparation of the Army charges against McCarthy as the senator contends. "Of course not," Wilson replied. Wilson was asked if he had been aware that McCarthy was investigating Hensel.

"I heard about it a couple of weeks ago," the secretary replied. "I asked Mr. Hensel about it."

A reporter asked whether Wilson was satisfied with Hensel's explanation in that interview.

"As I understand it, I was," Wilson replied. He said "there was no investigation of Mr. Hensel" by the Defense Department.

Michigan next month. At Lansing, Rep. Kit Clardy, chairman of the subcommittee that will conduct the Michigan hearings said he "never heard of the girl."

"I think the whole business is a publicity stunt by Shaffer to distract attention from the hearings and build himself a backfire of sympathy," Clardy said.

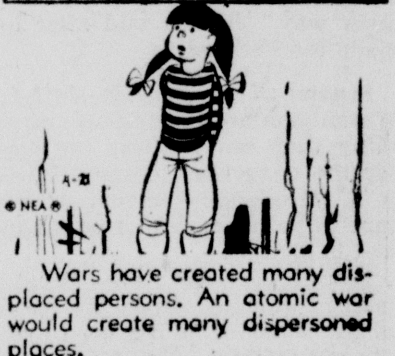

Clardy said that Miss Price had given no information to his subcommittee that he knew of.

The girl said she told Shaffer in late March that she had been informing on him and others.

"I did so," she said, "because I began to wonder if what I was doing was morally right. I then felt it was a wrong thing to do to a friend."

The Canadian-born girl said she left the campus for health reasons April 3, two days after signing the affidavit. She said she could not say now whether she would testify before the House subcommittee headed by Rep. Clardy.

Labor Party's No. 2 Leader Attempts To Boss British Press

By TOM A. CULLEN
LONDON (NEA)—Herbert Morrison, No. 2 man of the British Labor Party, has been called Britain's most ruthless politician, a Tammany boss with a British accent.

"Our 'Ernie,' as the Cockneys know him, is proud of having bullied and cajoled the warring elements of the Labor Party into a smooth-functioning machine, all gleaming brass and well-oiled pistons.

Recently, looking for new fields for his managerial talents, Morrison's eye alighted on the British press. Fleet Street needed reforming, he decided. Too many HERBERT MORRISON: He wants the press to stick to handouts.

"Secrets" were leaking into the press from Labor's private caucus.

The press should be content with the "official hand-outs" from party meetings and not go prying into what went on behind the scenes.

But it looks as though the 66-year-old party boss, who resembles a fighting bantam cock, may have caught his tail feathers in a wringer. For the British press is not taking the matter lying down. Thanks to Morrison, the Labor Party now finds itself accused of—horrors—trying to gag the press.

The party, which is fond of ticking off American democracy for "inconsistencies," is now being told to clean out its own house.

The party, which is fond of ticking off American democracy for "inconsistencies," is now being told to clean out its own house.

Morrison, deputy leader of Her Majesty's Opposition, began his political career when he was 27 as part-time secretary to the London Labor Party at the handsome salary of $3 a week in 1914.

With the near-collapse of the Labor Party in 1931, Morrison had several years to re-think his politics. He decided that the Labor Party should move rightwards to capture middle-class votes. Labor's landslide in 1945 proved him right.

Since then power has come to Morrison as Foreign Secretary and Deputy Prime Minister in Clement Attlee's cabinet, functions which he performs today in Labor's "shadow cabinet."

But "Our 'Ernie'" is restless; he is always reaching out for new power.

His enemies accuse him of trying to "extend the 'managerial revolution' to Parliament, itself. Parliamentary government, they point out, has been supplanted by caucus rule; the independent vote, by blind loyalty to a party machine.

The rule today, they claim, is, "See what the boys in the back room will have," for issues are being fought out and policies decided, not on the floor of the House of Commons, but in smoke-filled back rooms.

When Morrison, the man who more than any other is blamed for the modern party machine, arises to protest that Labor's "secrets" are leaking from behind locked doors, even The London Times takes notice.

What goes on at Labor's private parleys is of "first-rate public interest and importance," The Times declares, adding this word of advice to Labor leaders:

"Either they can see that their followers do not tell tales out of party meetings, in which case the meetings would in fact be private, or they can see that the whole story is told . . . It is no function of newspapers to keep politicians' secrets for them."

Women Are To Blame For Those Pink Shirts

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Most men do anything for women.

They'll climb the highest molehill. Swim the deepest puddle—to hold an umbrella over 'em in the rain. Lift them tenderly in and out of revolving doors.

Most men will even marry women. Bring 'em a paycheck all their life. Rescue them from a strangling octopus at the beach—or a tight girdle at home. Even listen to 'em.

More and more men must have been listening to their wives lately, or how else can you explain why more and more men are busting out in pink shirts?

Gaze at the masculine landscape around you. "Creeping pink-shirtitis" is turning thousands of hairy male chests a rosebud nursery color.

No White Collars

Stockbrokers are wearing pink shirts. So are pawnbrokers. So are wrestlers and other professional actors, bankers (although I am not sure they would lend money to a man in a pink shirt), factory hands and bus drivers.

The white collar class has practically vanished. It's the pink collar class now. The average office looks like an apple orchard in spring bloom.

(Editor's Note: What's wrong with pink shirts? My wife gave me one.)

(Boyle's Note: What do you think my wife bought me for Easter—a beige sleeping bag?)

Now, mind you, I'm not denouncing pink shirts. I asked a friend of mine, who has worn them for years, what life in a pink shirt was like, and he said:

"A pink shirt gives you a happy feeling. Strange women come up to talk to you at cocktail parties, and not all of them are near-sighted—just strange."

He Has Two Choices

A husband today rarely tells his wife what she should wear. His influence is purely negative. He usually says only, "Well, dear, that is something that is nice, but it isn't for you."

But since a wife now buys most of her husband's clothing, or is the voice of decision, her influence is overwhelmingly positive. She says, "This is what I bought for you, Buster. Quit crying. Put it on. Mrs. Jones bought one just like it for her husband, and he looks real cute in it."

That is why I feel that today the average man more and more is dressing, not by his own standards, but by one of two standards:

1. By the way his wife thinks she would like to look—if she were a man.

2. By the way some neighbor's wife dresses her husband.

I don't say woman's place is only in the kitchen, although it is still nice to catch one by surprise there. But I do say it is high time for men's clothing stores to hang out a sign saying: "For men only."

Early American colonists who fertilized their crops with 1,000 fish to the acre reported that one acre so treated grew as much as three acres without the fish.

Do Not Relish Farm Labor Role

HONG KONG (AP)—Both independent and pro-communist news reports from South China say farmers continue to pour into the cities from the countryside despite constant effort of the Communists to stop them. A recent story says farmers from Hoifung, Tsingyuan, Chaoyang, Namhoi, Hoiping, Toishan counties—good farming areas where recent Red reports told of good harvests—have entered Canton in search of industrial jobs. Some say this is due to food shortage in the country, others that farmers are discouraged over conditions at home. The Communist redistribution of land left most farmers with farms too small for practical farming, say some reports. Others say the farmers think the land is to be confiscated again and put into collectives and the farmers do not relish the prospect of working as farm laborers.

Laborite Punter Takes Poke At Football Pools

By TOM A. CULLEN
LONDON—(NEA)—Seventeen million Britons bet their sweat-soaked shillings each week on a kind of national lottery known as "the football pools."

The bettors, for mysterious reasons, are known as "punters." The football isn't really football as Americans know it, but soccer. Nor are the pools of the informal variety found in American offices and factories.

They are big business with an annual turnover of more than $225,000,000. One out of 10 letters handled by the General Post Office is to or from the pool promoters; the same is true of 60 per cent of the postal orders issued.

In the subway going to work, in the factory during the mid-morning tea break, in offices you see them—men and women with puzzled expressions trying to figure out the winners in Saturday's football matches.

At stake is $225,000 paid out each week in first prize dividends, and with it the opportunity to own a home, a television set, a car and to salt some away for old age.

Wives whose husbands earn good livings have been known to nre themselves out as charwomen in order to get betting money for the pools.

This dream world of "something for nothing," was disturbed recently when Fred W. Mulley, a Labor member of parliament, introduced a bill to regulate the pools.

Pool operators to date have had everything their own way, Mulley argues. Notably, they have failed to account for how the money received as wagers is being spent.

"I am not opposed to the pools—I do them myself," says Mulley. "All I want is to ensure that the punter gets a square deal."

Mulley's bill requiring pool promoters to publish annual accounts is kicking up a stink among the betting fraternity.

"Kill - joys, anti - gambling fanatics," scream the pool promoters. In a letter sent out to 17,000,000 punters, the promoters accuse Mulley of trying to "kill the pleasure which you . . . enjoy every week from the pools."

The accounting required by the Mulley bill would increase the expenses of the pools and thus reduce the prizes, the promoters hint.

Unperturbed, Mulley points out the pool punter is, in reality, a shareholder, or investor.

"After all," Mulley observes, "the pool promoters call their clients investors and themselves trustees. I'm only trying to give these investors the same rights by law as other investors."

While parliament wrestles with the problem, the one out of every three Britons who bets on the pools, and Mulley among them, is busy picking the winners of Saturday's games.

PUNTER'S DREAM COME TRUE: Barbara Alice Kelly of Birmingham, England, gets a $210,000 check from Pvt. James Speakman after her six-cent ticket hit jackpot in a British football pool.

EGG-CITING CHASE
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Grocer Robert Bryan kept all his eggs—17 dozen—in one basket. A thief grabbed it and ran.

Eggs kept plopping to the pavement but Special Patrolman Arthur Torres finally captured the thief, with only 31 unbroken eggs. He got 30 days in jail.

Rules Bathtub Isn't Plumbing

SIoux CITY, Iowa (AP)—A bathtub isn't plumbing, Municipal Judge Barry J. Sisk ruled that Walter E. Larsen, 61, who installed a bathtub himself, was innocent of violating a city plumbing ordinance.

The judge cited the Iowa legal code's definition of plumbing as "any receptacle or appliance installed or used to receive waste water, house soil, slop or sewage."

He ruled that "a bathtub actually doesn't receive waste water, but clean water, even though that water which may be discharged from the bathtub is waste water."

Schine Application Puts Focus On Army's Hush-Hush CID

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Within the Army's military police corps there exists an elite, hush-hush group of criminal investigators who wear civilian clothes, operate around the world and work hand-in-hand with the U. S. Secret Service, FBI, U. S. Narcotics Bureau and other federal and local law enforcement agencies.

The mission of these super criminal investigators is to protect U. S. troops as well as seek out those men in uniform who commit crimes.

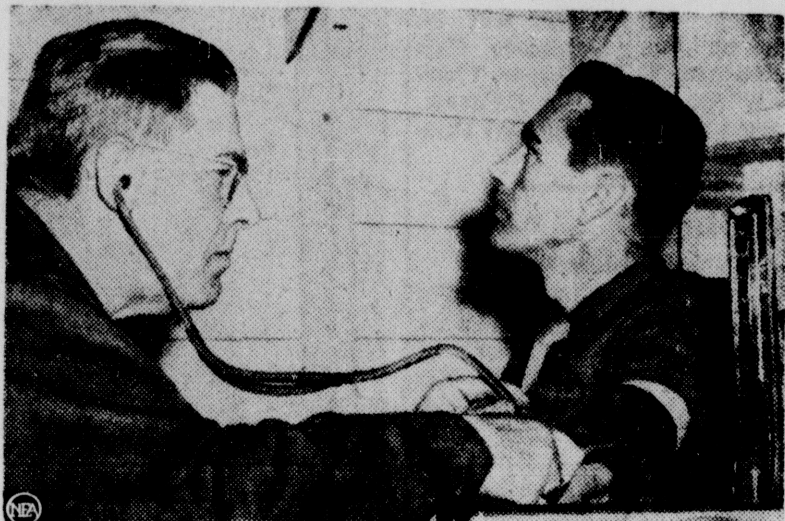

Not long ago in Germany a farmer was found dead in the back of the truck on which he had been riding. Death was caused by what appeared to be a bullet wound in the man's head and local authorities had picked up a U. S. Army officer who had been hunting along the road as the suspected assailant.

The Army's CI men assigned to the case were skeptical of the officer's guilt although there was strong circumstantial evidence against him. The autopsy report made by a local coroner was a little vague and the officer's denial of guilt sounded true.

CI men took a ride along the same route. In the middle of this trip one of them noticed a very low-hanging branch. He stopped and found what appeared to be dried blood on a sharp twig.

An Army mobile crime lab proved that it was blood and the same type as that of the dead man. The branch had killed him, not a gun.

On the other side of the picture, not long ago, the same sort of careful detective work uncovered a murder plot in what appeared to be an ordinary automobile accident. A GI had killed his wife and tried to make it look like the result of a car smash-up.

LIE DETECTION TRAINING: S/Sgt. W. R. Adams has blood pressure checked by Lt. Col. W. R. Pierce before undergoing lie detector test at CID school where Army sleuths are taught.

National attention has been focused on this special Army investigation group by the much-publicized Pvt. G. David Schine, figure in the Army-McCarthy dispute. Schine's application to get in the Army's CI school at Camp Gordon, Ga., was turned down. In the resultant publicity the existence of the school and some of its activities became general public knowledge for the first time.

Following regulations, the Army's Provost Marshal, Gen. William H. Maglin, is not revealing why he turned down Schine's application for the school. But the established qualifications for candidates make it fairly apparent why Schine didn't make the grade.

In the first place Schine's experience investigating communism for the McCarthy committee in no way qualifies him for this specialized MP work. "We worry about sin," explains Gen. Maglin. "Subversion is the worry of the Counter Intelligence Corps, another part of the Army entirely." Only rarely do draftees get into the CI group. One of the last who did was a former G-man. Another qualification is two years service in the Army. Gen. Maglin feels that an investigator must have an intimate knowledge of how the service operates.

Members of the CI group are officers, warrant officers and sergeants. They're mostly former detectives, police officers and investigators and plan to make this work in the Army a career.

The school at Camp Gordon lasts 10 weeks. In that time the men are taught such things as fingerprint analysis, ballistics, how to operate a lie detector and crime laboratory work.

The course has such a high reputation in police circles around the world men from civilian police agencies in the U. S. and other countries take it. There's actually a waiting line to get in.

The crime lab at Camp Gordon, rated one of the best in the world along with the one maintained by the FBI, is used both for training and the examination of evidence.

It has an electronic machine, for instance, which can identify the name of the manufacturer of an aspirin from a minute sample of the tablet. It was also able to tell in what country had been grown a batch of narcotics seized in Korea.

Since the war CI men have had a hand in breaking up dope rings around the world, arresting murderers, halting big and small rackets in the Army and breaking up bootleg rings.

Several months ago a CI man worked his way into a phony insurance firm which had elaborate plans for bilking GIs in Europe. He was able to break up the racket before it got started.

A little more than a year ago CI agents moved in on a gang of counterfeiters in Europe who were just starting to print $2 million worth of military payment certificates.

In all of this work in the U. S. and abroad CI men work closely with local police and other federal agents. It has become an important adjunct to the nation's crime detection and prevention force.

Congress' Committees Bar Press, Public At 40% Of Their Sessions

(By Congressional Quarterly)
WASHINGTON — Congress is holding nearly 40 per cent of its committee meetings behind closed doors.

According to a Congressional Quarterly tabulation of committee and subcommittee meetings from Jan. 6 through April 10, these committees or their subdivisions met 1,287 times.

Of these sessions, 494, or 38.38 per cent, were not open to the public and press.

With the 1954 session about half over, 40.58 per cent of 648 House and 34.58 per cent of 561 Senate committee meetings were closed. The figures do not count meetings of the House Appropriations Committee and its 12 subcommittees, all of which were executive. These units held hundreds of meetings but staff members said no estimate of the total was available.

How Committees Scored
Two Senate committees listed more than 70 sessions, but neither was among the leaders in closed meeting percentages. Senate Appropriations met 73 times, 12 times in closed session, for a percentage of 16.4. Senate Judiciary had 70 meetings, 16 closed, 22.9 per cent; Government Operations, 6 and 14, 70 per cent.

Most closed sessions listed for a Senate committee was 27 for Interior and Insular Affairs. It had the same number of open sessions. Senate Armed Services met 26 times in closed session, 25 in open, for a closed-meeting percentage of 51. Senate Foreign Relations figures were 15 closed, seven open, and 68.2 per cent.

Counting out the House appropriations units, the committee which met most frequently was Armed Services. Only 19 of its 67 sessions were closed, however, for a score of 28.4 per cent. The House Committee with the highest percentage of closed hearings, at 96.6, was Education and Labor. Much of its work was on preparation of Taft-Hartley labor-law revisions and 28 of its 29 sessions were closed. House Judiciary's 36 was the most closed sessions, excluding Appropriations, but it also held 29 open sessions and compiled a closed-door percentage of 55.4.

Joint Committees held 78 meetings, 47.43 per cent of them closed. The Joint Committee on Atomic Energy reported 27, with 22 of them executive for a percentage of 81.5.

The Rules: "All open . . . Except . . ." Senate and House rules say "All hearings conducted by standing committees or their subcommittees shall be open to the public except executive sessions for marking up bills or for voting or where the committee by a majority vote orders an executive session."

Closed sessions drew this comment from Sen. Wayne Morse (I Ore.) on April 9: I am satisfied . . . that there is no justification for such a large percentage of secret Congressional committee meetings . . . In a democracy there is no substitute for the check of public hearing, with the press present, checking upon the quality of the work and the nature of the activities of the elected representatives of the people."

Many Congressmen have maintained that closed sessions are necessary for considering confidential defense and foreign matters, and, as Sen. Russell B. Long (D La.) said in the April 9 debate: " . . . from time to time it is necessary to have executive sessions to decide how to work out certain technical details of a subject before a committee."

For its survey, CQ counted only meetings held in Washington, D. C. An open meeting followed by a closed one was counted in both categories. Conference meetings and House Rules Committee sessions to grant rules regulating debate were not counted.

Much Bored Miss Promotes Action

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 5-year-old gets pretty bored in a quiet waiting room while daddy and mamma are seeing the doctor. This little girl wandered into the corridor where she saw a red lever on the wall.

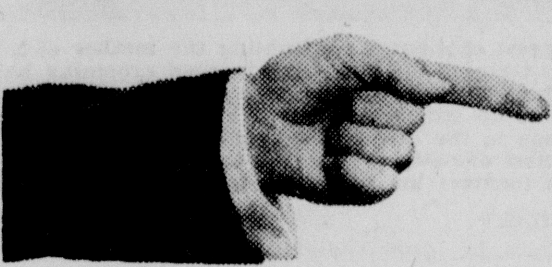

Half an hour later, the firemen had traced the false alarm. Nurses, doctors and staff workers, who had scrambled to evacuation stations throughout the hospital, went back to their normal activities.

And the 5-year-old resumed her wait.

Reduced Excise Taxes
Cut Your Cost of Long Distance Calls

The recent reductions in federal excise taxes, voted by Congress, mean substantial savings for Long Distance telephone users.

Instead of paying 25% federal excise tax on Long Distance calls, you now pay 10%.

The reductions are of direct benefit to all users of Long Distance telephone service. For your telephone bill is lowered by the entire difference between the old and new tax.

The tax cuts apply to all calls billed to you on or after April 1.

The lower tax rates make Long Distance calls — always low in cost — an even bigger bargain.

Chore Intrigues Six-Year-Olds

One of the biggest challenges confronting the mother of a six-year-old boy is training the youngster in good grooming habits. He is fired with energy for constant fun-making, and, besides, he wants nothing to do with sissy stuff. This mother (left) is interesting her son in the care of his shoes. She is showing him how to use a new one-step polish that comes with its own applicator. Then (center) the youngster takes over the job himself.

By ALICIA HART

Training youngsters in good grooming habits is quite a challenge. You can generally appeal to the vanity of little girls in coaxing care of curls; from there, it is a gradual process. But boys are a bit more difficult to handle.

At about the time they are ready for such training, they also have become aware of things masculine and feminine. And, of course, they want nothing to do with the latter.

Unless fostered with considerable tact, any care in grooming appears as sissy stuff to them. It often seems that the dirtier they are, the happier they are.

The best starting point for these little lads probably is care of their shoes. It offers a bit of challenge and the work itself can be fun; therefore it is least likely to carry the sissy stigma. Furthermore, the finished job rewards with that all-important sense of accomplishment which youngsters in this age group seek.

The old-fashioned method of shoe polishing was a tiresome chore that nobody liked. It was messy; there were too many steps, and one really had to work to get a good shine.

However, considerable progress has been made in recent years. One firm, for instance, recently brought out a one-step polish that is said to be no trouble at all for children to use.

Your second-grader should find it fun to see the rapid improvement he can make with one stroke. He can get that sense of accomplishment without too much effort since the dauber which is included in the package does not demand a deft hand. Neither is it messy to handle.

The polish will also condition leather, prolonging the life of the shoe, this firm says. Every application is said to restore damaged leather so that it appears like new.

Once you have your child beaming with pride at his work, encourage further development toward careful grooming.

After congratulating your son on his accomplishment, you might remark that you will take care to prepare his other clothing as well as he has groomed his shoes.

Then, outlining the things you will have to do to keep up with the pace he has set, suggest he might be interested in helping you with some of them.

Just the thing for summer showers is a smart two-piece rain outfit—cape and skirt. The skirt may be made large enough to fit over several crinolines.

Directions worked out by local sewing centers are followed easily as you will see here. Or of you prefer, perhaps you'd like to take a few lessons in special classes for teen-age seamstresses.

The plastic film used for this outfit is vinyl.

Three yards of vinyl plastic fabric, 54 inches wide makes the cape and skirt. One-eighth yard in contrasting color is sufficient for the trim.

Cape Collar

Take a 45 inch square of fabric. Fold it over twice—once across the length and once across the width. On folder point cut out about 2½ inch circle to make the neckline. On opposite corners to folded point trim to curved edge for lower finish.

Open fabric to width and cut front opening at neckline center. Turn under three-quarters on each front opening to form a facing for each side. Stitch a band around the neckline 1½ inches wide in contrasting fabric. To do this start at center back of neckline with exact middle of the fabric strip. Cut this strip at least 40 inches long so that you will have enough left to form front ties. Before stitching anchor the strip to neckline with paper clips, removing clips as you stitch. To finish front closure place dot snappers along front facing according to instruction on snapper package.

When sewing on plastic fabric use light tension and light pressure. Use a thin needle and mercerized thread. Set your sewing machine for a slightly longer stitch than used for most fabrics.

To Make Skirt

This skirt is made in two sections. First cut a paper pattern to a 34 inch square. Trim off one corner to make a perfect quarter circle. From opposite corner trim a quarter-circle so that it will measure one-quarter of your waistline measurement.

Using this as a cutting guide, fold plastic crosswise and place pattern on fabric with one edge against raw edge and the other edge against fold. Cut. Repeat for second section. This gives you two half-circles. Sew half circles together to form back seam. Turn front edges back one inch to form facing. Make waistband with strip of fabric as made for cape neckline. To finish front closure, place dot snappers along front facing according to instructions on snapper package.

It is a good idea to work these garments out with newspaper first. When you get the hang of it, cut into your fabric.

Start Them Young In Proper Tooth Care

FIRST TEETH . . . Proper care insures a good second set.

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

If you want your child to have strong white teeth, now is the time to start dental care.

Many dental troubles plaguing adults may be traced to lack of preventive measures in childhood, according to the American Dental Assn.

During the recent Children's Dental Health Week held in several states, dentists pointed out that more than 90 per cent of the nation's school-age children have dental deficiencies. They advocated these rules to assure a good start toward life-long dental health.

1. Proper use of the toothbrush immediately after eating, and home care of the teeth and mouth.
2. A well-balanced diet, low in sweets, for growth and development of teeth.
3. Early detection of cavities through periodic dental x-ray examination, and treatment of dental disease to prevent more serious ills in later life.
4. The application of dental decay preventives such as fluoridation of community water supply.

Most dentists advocate the newer brush method of brushing teeth—brush upper teeth down and lower teeth up for best results. They agree there is no tooth paste that will stop all tooth decay. But some, such as the anti-enzyme, ammoniated or chlorophyll formulas, are aimed at correcting mouth conditions that help foster decay.

Dentists criticize parents who believe that a child's first teeth are unimportant because he is going to lose them anyway. There can be serious consequences if first teeth are lost too early or retained too long, they say. Irregular second teeth may result, impairing chewing ability and detracting from the appearance.

Sometimes primary teeth abscess if dental disease goes unchecked, and germs and poisonous toxins from the teeth may be carried to other parts of the body.

When permanent teeth are forming within the jaws, the child should begin proper toothbrushing habits. And to keep him happy

Hospital Authority At Gladstone Reorganized

The Gladstone Hospital Authority was reorganized at a meeting last night, with H. T. Brewer re-elected chairman and Harold Gustafson vice chairman of the group. Next step in the continuing plans of the Authority to construct a hospital to serve the area will be a meeting within a couple weeks to reorganize the campaign for the solicitation of funds.

Named to the Authority at last night's meeting were: Chairman, H. T. Brewer; Vice Chairman, Harold Gustafson; Secretary, Adam Sinclair; Gladstone, treasurer.

Atty. Clair Hoehn of Gladstone accepted the position as legal counsel for the Hospital Authority. Appointed to an advisory group were: Brewer, Gustafson and Peder Pedersen of Stonington.

Representatives of the area attending the reorganization meeting were as follows:

Briefly Told

Mid-Week Service—A mid-week service will be held at 7:30 tonight at the First Baptist Church. After the service a short business session will be held.

Lutheran Brotherhood—A meeting of the Lutheran Brotherhood will be held at 8 Thursday evening at the First Lutheran Church.

Fractured Bone—Michael Rasmussen, son of Mrs. Verna Rasmussen, Superior Ave., fell from his high chair at his home last evening and suffered a fractured collar bone.

Prayer Meeting—A prayer meeting for members of the Free Methodist church will be held at 8 tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James McKnight, 413 Delta Ave.

Fred Holmes, Cornell Township; George Berg, Brampton Township; Peder Pedersen, Bay de Noc Township; Arne Jaconson for Walter Manntie of Maple Ridge Township; Harold Gustafson of Ensign Township; and Adam Sinclair of Gladstone.

The reorganization follows the referendum of April 5 when voters of the city of Gladstone and five townships approved formation of the Hospital Authority for the purpose of promoting, constructing and operating and maintaining a hospital to be located in or out of Gladstone.

The original hospital promotion group was formed about one year ago.

Rotarians Hear Talk On Brazil

Dr. Carlos Sa M. D., Brazilian, now in America studying operation of governmentally operated health departments, was heard in a delightful and informative talk at the Rotary club luncheon Monday noon at the Yacht Club.

Dr. Sa is a health officer employed by the Brazilian federal government. Public health work in Brazil is now in its infancy in comparison with the setup in America, he said. It operates from a federal and state standpoint or basis and of vital interest to him is the manner in which we operate from a federal, state and county setup.

He said he hopes he will be able to adapt what he can of our system of public health to the Brazilian system upon his return to his homeland. Just how much, is a question, he said for their problems are different from ours.

Dr. Sa worked as a sanitarian in the Amazon valley and there as in many parts of the country a safe water supply is a problem. The country is now experimenting with wells as a source of supply of pure untreated water.

Hunting and fishing is excellent in his country for those wishing to indulge in the sport.

The political setup and the governmental setups are very similar to the United States.

United States money is worth three times as much in exchange for Brazilian money as it was two years ago. Coffee costs the Brazilian about twice what it did.

He expressed the belief the American and Brazilian governments will always remain friendly.

The speaker was introduced by Wallace Benzie, sanitarian for the Delta-Menominee Health Department. Noble Swenson was program chairman.

County Adopts Tentative 1955 Budget Of $127,000

A tentative 1955 budget ceiling for $127,001.04 was adopted by the Schoolcraft County Board of Supervisors Tuesday afternoon.

The budget for next year includes a deficit of $10,201.04 existing as of Dec. 31, 1953. The amount was included at the suggestion of William W. Davidson of Doyle Township.

In informal conversation, the supervisors indicated that in 1952 the county operated without a deficit, but that for several years prior to that time a deficit budget had been adopted each year.

Sell Hogen
William J. Sheahan, prosecuting attorney, pointed out that state and county units are required to adopt balanced budgets at the beginning of each year, and that the first item should be any deficit incurred in the preceding year.

The board of supervisors tentatively accepted the bid of Altman Typewriter and Adding Machine Company of Marquette to supply a 6-hour fire-resistant door for a new vault being constructed in the courthouse basement for the county treasurer. The bid of $677.91 was the lowest of four received.

A motion to sell a hogpen on the county fairgrounds in Manistique to Henry DeSautel, of Manistique for $25 was passed by the board.

Juvenile Problems
The supervisors also heard discussion of a proposal to sell a 660 x 132-foot parcel of property in Hiawatha Township to the state for a park, and to grant right-of-way of approximately 200 feet to the state for a road in Hiawatha Township. No action was taken, but supervisors favored the right-of-way granting only. The property is on M94 near the gun clubhouse.

During the Tuesday afternoon session, supervisors conferred with probate Judge John Faketty on more stringent law enforcement in juvenile cases. They noted that some juveniles are becoming "defiant" and are teaching other youngsters their practices. The probate judge indicated the court's activity was regulated by law, and that juveniles could be rehabilitated wherever possible.

During the discussion, A. W. Heitman, mayor of Manistique, pointed out that he believed the psychology used in the approach to juvenile problems, throughout the nation, was wrong, because with juveniles as with adults, the greatest incentive to honesty is the desire to have a good reputation. Publication of names of offenders in cases where a juvenile repeatedly violates the law would be a deterrent to such action, and would encourage parents to supervise their children, he stated.

The board adjourned Tuesday afternoon, and is scheduled to meet again in June.

K-C Initiation Scheduled For 19
Nineteen candidates from the Manistique area will be initiated into the Knights of Columbus at Menominee Sunday, April 25, Grand Knight Thomas L. Smith Jr., announces.

Degree work will be under direction of Supreme Knight Gervase T. Murphy of Calumet. First degree work will commence at 10:30 a. m., and 2nd and 3rd degree work at 1:30 p. m.

A large delegation from the Manistique Council will accompany the candidates to Menominee.

Those who will receive degrees are Charles Blair, Donald S. Martin, Henry O. Windsor, Robert Rozich, Peter Rozich, Dr. A. B. Bernier, Alfred J. Cayia Jr., Leo Foye, Maurice Ekberg, William Dewey and Edmund Vallier.

F. E. Robare, of Gould City; Albert Letson Jr., of Gulliver; Donald and Bernard Smith, of Thompson, William Mulhaupt and Earl Sadler, of Seney; Frank Oaken and Oral J. Lawrence, of Germfask, also will receive degrees.

Serving on the committee, whose report was adopted Tuesday morning by the board of supervisors, were A. W. Heitman, W. G. Stephens, Willard Garvin, Arnold Hyvonen and Allan Macaulay.

Personal property valuations increased this year from $2,030,875 to $3,235,273; and real property valuations increased from $9,039,080 to $9,068,551.

Indian Ocean Island Holds Racial Potpourri

WASHINGTON — Mauritius, described by early explorers as the Indian Ocean's Garden of Eden, is as paradoxical as it is scenic. It was discovered by the Portuguese, named by the Dutch, and is administered today by the British. Indians and Chinese dominate its population, but French is the common language.

Located 1,200 miles east of Africa and 575 miles east of the larger island of Madagascar, Mauritius is one of earth's most densely populated spots, says the National Geographic Society. Although only half the size of Long Island, it is the home of slightly more than half a million people. Probably its most famous inhabitant is now extinct, however. That was the large, flightless dodo bird which once roamed the island in great numbers.

Tropical Sugar Bowl

Sugar cane is king in Mauritius, accounting for 96 per cent of annual exports. More than 400,000 tons a year are produced for export to Britain. Rum, alcohol, vinegar and perfume are important manufactured by-products.

The island's population has tripled in the last century, and Indians are now in the majority. After 1835, when the British abolished slavery, Indians were imported from Madras and Bengal to work the sugar plantations. Thousands of Chinese immigrants, mostly merchants and shopkeepers, have also helped convert Mauritius into a "miniature Orient."

Port Louis is the island's capital and commercial center. Most Europeans reside in Curepipe on the central plateau.

Escanaba Bears Will Reorganize This Year

First steps toward awakening the hibernating Escanaba Bears baseball organization were taken at a preliminary meeting last night at the Sherman Hotel.

The Bears, former powerhouse in area baseball circles, were idle last year. In previous years they dominated the Tri County Baseball league for two seasons but were not organized because of a general lack of interest last summer.

Gust Asp was named president of the organization and Bob Dufour was selected as team manager, to be assisted in that capacity by Jack Beck.

Won't Join League

The team declined an invitation to join the Tri County circuit this summer in favor of an independent organization. The Bears will book exhibition games with top-notch teams from throughout the Upper Peninsula, playing most of their home stands at the city ball diamond in twilight contests.

"We feel that Escanaba's baseball fans would rather see the Bears in action against good competition from the various leagues in the Upper Peninsula rather than be tied down to one league," a spokesman explained.

On the independent setup, the Bears will also be able to play their games during the week rather than on Sunday afternoon. Sunday games in the past have drawn only a few fans for senior baseball in Escanaba.

Karkkainen Is Back

Prospects for a strong team are good, with many former star players available for duty here. The nucleus of the Bears pitching staff will be Mel Karkkainen husky fireballer who recently returned from a hitch in the service. Karkkainen burned up the Tri County League before entering military service.

Other former Bears who attended the meeting last night were Dufour, Beck, Joe Ricci, Gordy Nevila and Doug Peterson. Wally Flath also sat in on the session. Other players indicated and interest in joining the Bears if the team is reorganized.

Dufour is a veteran player in Escanaba who has seen outfield duty with city teams since returning from service in 1950. He is a former star slugger from Escanaba High School teams.

A second meeting of the organization will be held Thursday night, April 29, at 7:30 at the Youth Center, Club 314. All interested ball players and the public are invited to attend.

Stock Car Racing Meeting April 28

Plans for the 1954 stock car racing program in Escanaba will be laid at a meeting Wednesday, April 28, at 8 p. m., in the dining hall of the 4-H building at the fairgrounds.

All drivers, car owners and persons interested in stock car racing are invited to the meeting.

The track at the fairgrounds is being prepared for this year's opening date which will be announced shortly. Considerable interest has been shown by drivers and owners and a large field is assured for the first show of the season.

At the meeting next week plans for the season will be made and new car owners and drivers will have an opportunity to register their cars and be assigned numbers.

Among the local drivers expected to return to action this year are John Zawada, John Pieropon, Bill Godfrey, Joe Blazek, Alan Sanville and Jim Loper.

Other drivers who will be active are Len Fluette and Bob Higgins of Marquette, Joe Longtine and the Honkala brothers of Ishpeming, Joe Gayan of Iron Mountain, Hoppy Mott of Norway, Pinky Hytinen of Ishpeming.

Turner Faces Jones In Rematch Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gil Turner, a welterweight, fights in the mid-dewlight field again tonight in a scheduled 10 rounder against Bobby Jones.

Promoter Herman Taylor says the winner of tonight's nationally televised (CBS) fight will earn a crack at Joey Giardello, who is to be champion Carl (Bobo) Olson's opponent.

This Turner-Jones setto is a return bout. Jones, a 3-1 underdog last March, won a split decision over Turner.

Three Changes In U.P. Keg Tourney

IRONWOOD — Two changes among the leaders in the 44th annual U. P. Bowling Association tournament were made during the weekend at the Sport Bowl alleys here and a third, which had been recorded the previous week, was reported by tourney officials.

Smeth's Sporting Goods team of Ironwood moved into fourth place in the regular division team standing by chalking up 2820 Sunday night and the Kelto-Velin in squad of Bessemer took over second place in the booster division with 2562.

The other change reported by tourney officials was a 628 singles score rolled by Frank Ellison of Marquette on Sunday, April 11, which had been overlooked when the standings were compiled last week. The score gives Ellison fourth place in the singles.

At the end of the fifth weekend of action in the tourney, which will continue through May 2, Ship's Tavern of the Soo is still leading regular division teams with a 2972 series and 1061 game, Maki Service of Chatham is first in the booster division with a 2704 series and 980 game, Ken Comparin and Bob Kostopolus of Ironwood are first in the doubles with 1285, J. Utities of Ashland leads the singles with 642. Kostopolus tops the all events with 1831, Henry Dunstan of South Range has the high individual single with 267, and A. Hanson and J. Lawery of South Range have the high doubles game of 481.

Twenty-nine teams from 11 Upper Peninsula towns and two northern Wisconsin communities competed during the weekend.

Sixteen teams from Ironwood made bids for a share of the more than $7,000 in prize money on Saturday and Sunday, but the Smeth's and Kelto-Velin squads were the only ones to break into the top five in their divisions.

Tourney action will be resumed on Friday night this week with Ironwood bowlers competing in the doubles and singles. Full schedules also are set for Saturday and Sunday.

Hey kids . . . The Escanaba Softball Association is going to give you youngsters a break this summer . . . If you are accompanied by your parents you will be allowed to attend the regular league softball games at Memorial Field without charge . . . Or is that a break for the old man? . . . Incidentally, one of the biggest headaches at Memorial Field comes from the kids who scramble around in the stands and wander around the backstop fence during games . . . Maybe this new wrinkle will help eliminate some of that.

There was some question at the recent softball organization meeting concerning the order of finish in the American League standings last season . . . Here's the dope: Harnischfeger was tops with 18-2; Merchants second with 14-6; Paper Mill third with 13-7, and Bungalow fourth with 12-7 . . . Those four teams will be involved in the booster games Sunday night, May 16.

Cpl. George Neurohr, Ft. Sill, Okla., has nailed down the first baseman's job on the ball team that represents the Army Aviation School Command . . . George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neurohr of Brampton . . . Most of the players on his team have had several years in organized baseball or in college circles . . . The Brampton young man is a helicopter inspector.

Mel Holme, former All-U.P. and all-state fullback from Stam- baugh, who was the No. 1 fullback at Minnesota last season, has signed a pro contract with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union of Canada . . . Despite playing along side of all-America Paul Geil with the Gophers, Holme gained considerable attention among sports writers, sports- casters and fans for his blocking and fierce line smashes . . . Holme follows a former townsman, Joel Mason, into the pro ranks . . . Folks around here will remember Mason as a member of the Green Bay Packers a few years back.

Seven Teams Enter Tri County League

HERMANSVILLE — Seven teams were represented at the preliminary organization meet- ing of the Tri County Baseball League held here last night.

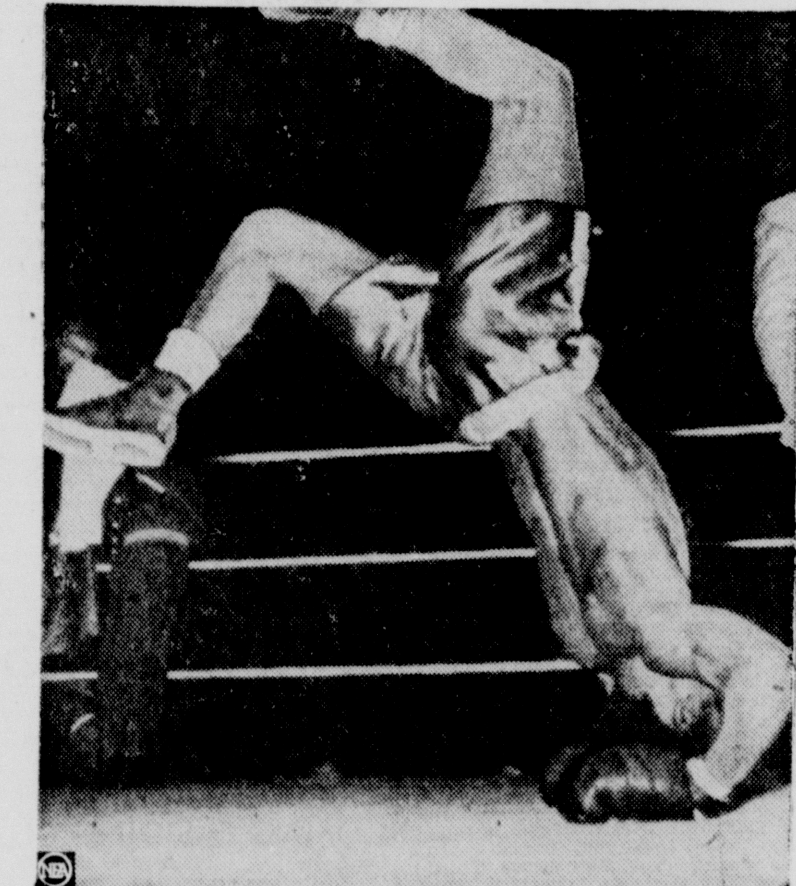

Attending the meeting were representatives from Hermans- ville, Powers, Bark River, Dag- gett, Perronville, Hardwood and Loretto-Vulcan. Hardwood play- ing as the Foster City team in the circuit last year.

The league directors re-elected Roy Bagley president and Frank Rodman, Hermansville, secretary treasurer.

The 1954 schedule will be adopted at a meeting on Tuesday night, May 4, at a meeting at Perronville. League rules and date at that meeting.

By-laws will be brought up to Loretto-Vulcan, newcomer to the circuit, promises to field a strong entry with many recent high school stars signed to play this season.

An eighth entry in the league will be welcomed at the May 4 meeting, Bagley stated, and any team interested is invited to at- tend the session.

Spartan Coach Nearly Hits Deck When Bolden Is Belted In Practice

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP)—It's easy to understand why Duffy Daugherty, the Michigan State football boss, nearly dropped to the ground too when he saw Leroy Bolden go down in a scrimmage session last Saturday.

Charley Riley Near End Of Ring Trail

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Charley Riley, once tabbed "Chillin' Charley," looked like he was near the end of the road Tuesday night as he lost a split decision to young Davey Moore in 10 rounds.

Riley, a hometown favorite, dropped Moore for an automatic eight-count with a right in the seventh, but was knocked off his feet himself in the ninth.

Only 844 paying fans saw the fight although it was passed by both television and radio.

Moore, a 19-year-old former National AAU champion from Spring- field, Ohio, weighed in at 129. Riley scaled 130.

Judges Fred Connell and Howard Hess scored it for Moore, 52-48 and 51-49, respectively. Referee Jimmy Parker called it 50-50.

NEW GOLF PRO — Jim McNicoll arrived from Duluth yesterday to assume his duties as golf professional at the Escanaba Golf and Country Club. McNicoll was formerly assistant pro at Duluth Northland and Ridgeview Country Clubs. (Daily Press Photo)

EASY VICTORY

Kellner Fires One-Hit Victory Over Senators

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The American League for the second straight day saw a one-hitter Tuesday while the National League was going its slug-happy way with another 26-hit donnybrook.

Lefty Alex Kellner of the Phila- delphia Athletics tamed the Wash- ington Senators on one safety — Wayne Terwilliger's lonesome sin- gle into center field with two out in the eighth inning as the A's won 7-0.

On Monday Jim McDonald, New York Yankee righthander, allowed Boston only a single by Harry Ag- anis.

Cards Walloped Again

A big share of the National League fireworks has involved the St. Louis Cardinals. The Redbirds absorbed a 13-6 shelling at the hands of the Cincinnati Redlegs Tuesday night and now have been battered for 60 runs in six games.

The Cardinals themselves have averaged almost seven runs.

Another Horse Out Of Derby

NEW YORK (AP)—Errard King, a fleet sprinter who was rated an 8-1 choice in the Kentucky Derby, to- day joined a half-dozen other 3-year-olds withdrawn from the run for the roses because of injuries.

Joe Gavegnano's colt suffered a quarter crack while working out at Jamaica. A quarter-crack is a split on the wall of the hoof, something like a broken finger nail. The horse must rest until it grows back.

This leaves Correlation. Deter- mine and Fisherman as the lowest priced colts in the future book. Cor- relation is 2-1 and Determine and Fisherman each 5-10-2.

Ailing thoroughbreds previously withdrawn from the May 1 classic include Duke's Lea; Turn-To, 2-1 winter book favorite; Portehouse, champion 2-year-old of 1953; Black Star; Big Chest, and Double Speed, who held a decision over Correla- tion.

QUESTION: With first and second bases occupied and one out, the batter bunts a short fly to the second baseman. The latter drops the ball and all three run- ners reach base, safely. What is the ruling?

Answer: They are safe. A bunt is never an infield fly.

Q. With runners on first and second bases, the batter drops a bunt along the first base line and the first baseman comes in and fields it. Is there any set of sig- nals he should watch for in order to know which play to make?

A. The catcher directs this play by yelling out the base he feels the fielder should throw to.

Q. How should a pitcher pace himself between pitches?

A. A good pitcher varies the in- terval between pitches. This is an- other aid in upsetting the batter's timing.

Babe Zaharias Will Rest From Golf Grid

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Babe Zaharias has passed another crucial test in her fight against cancer and will return to golf when she feels she can win again.

Right now the indomitable Babe, most famous of women athletes, is taking a rest. She is about 10 pounds under her normal weight.

Mrs. Zaharias was pronounced quite O.K. Tuesday after blood and x-ray tests one year after her operation for cancer.

She resumed golf less than four months after the operation and played the entire winter tour of the ladies PGA, winning two tourna- ments and finishing high in others.

Americans Eat, Ride Too Much To Star In Long Distance Tests

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—The reason Americans don't hold their own in track's endurance tests, says Great Britain's wiry Jim Peters, is that "they have too many au- tomobiles and eat too much."

Jim prescribes austerity for dis- tance race champions, and he practices it.

The lean, 35-year-old Briton, sec- ond to Veliko Karvonen of Finland in Monday's Karvonen Marathon, stopped over in New York and dis- cussed training methods Tuesday before boarding a plane for home. America's best showing at Boston was seventh.

Fastest On Record

"You Americans have too many automobiles and much to much to eat. You'll never develop men of stamina and endurance that way. There is only way to train — that

Gray Is No Ace As Tigers Lose To White Sox By 7-2

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP) — It's understood that this is the win-or-else season for Ted Gray, the puzzling left-hander of the Detroit Tigers.

The 29-year-old southpaw is on the spot after three straight losing seasons and Tiger front office expects him to be a winner this year.

He lasted only three innings Tuesday as the Tigers dropped a 7-2 decision to the Chicago White Sox in Briggs Stadium.

Plagued By Wildness

He made his first unsuccessful start last week in Cleveland and held the Indians to four hits in seven innings. But in both games he was plagued by wildness.

It could be that Gray is being extra careful this season. Last year he and teammate Billy Hoelt each served up 24 home run balls to lead the league.

The Tigers are idle today and tomorrow. They'll have a chance to think about the mistakes they made in dropping the two-game series against the White Sox.

After winning four of their first five games, the Tigers had offensive and defensive lapses against the Chicagoans, who now have won four straight games.

Virgil Trucks turned on his old mates Tuesday and stopped them with a strong six-hitter to even his record at 1-1. Since the Tigers traded him away in 1952, after 10 years, he has beaten them five times without a loss.

Give Up 12 Hits

The White Sox rolled up a dozen hits off Gray and his three successors, Ralph Branca, Dick Donovan and Ray Herbert.

Fred Hatfield played third for the ailing Ray Boone, who was sidelined by an arthritic condition. Tiger catcher Frank House suffered two bruised fingers and was forced out of the game in the seventh inning.

The Cleveland Indians will be in Detroit for a three-game series Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Tiger skipper Fred Hutchinson says he'll pitch Ned Garver, Steve Gromek and Billy Hoelt in that order against the Tribe.

Six Rookies In Pirates Lineup

NEW YORK (AP)—Six of the nine Pittsburgh players in the lineup that lost to the New York Giants Tuesday, 6-2, were rookies. Before the game was over, another first year man, pitcher Nelson King, with Denver of the class A Western League, joined them.

Gair Allie, shortstop, Bib Skinner, first base, Gail Henley, right field, Bob Shepard, catcher, Dick Smith, third base, Curtis Roberts, second base. Ever hear of any of them before? Neither did Pittsburgh manager Fred Haney before this spring.

"They're a fine bunch of kids and they will be established big leaguers some day," Haney said, "but I'm afraid I'm rushing them too fast. I had to rush them in when Sid Gordon and Cal Abrams suffered injuries and one or two other veterans I had counted on didn't show anything.

"The kids have done about as well as I expected, though. Several have done better.

"It's just been our tough luck to have to run into Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons, the National League's top pitching pair, in four of our first five games."

Centenarians Number 4,500

WASHINGTON — The United States today has 4,500 citizens 100 years old and over, bolstering the belief that man is the longest-lived mammal on earth.

Perhaps some of them, provided they can authenticate their birth dates, will help solve a problem that so far has defied an exact answer:

What is the maximum life span of Homo sapiens?

The Bible mentions that Methuselah lived 969 years, an age open to varying interpretations. In the last few years, the National Geographic Society says, age claims have run all the way to 148 (a Javanese), 160 (the Turk Zaro Agha), 176 (Baba Harainsingh of India), and 180 for an unidentified Russian woman.

Many Claims Doubted

Recently some Americans have counted their years well above 120. A Dane, Christen Jacobsen Drakenberg, was said to have married at 111 and lived to 145. Thomas Parr (Old Parr), a Shropshire lad, died in the reign of Charles I at a reputed 152.

To demographers, however, most claims are highly suspect because verifiable records are lacking. Memories frequently fail as years accumulate. Also, communities often confer patriarchal prestige on claimants to great age, thereby inviting exaggeration.

The 1940 U. S. census reported 110 persons 109 years old and over, 150 men and 260 women. Officials, however, caution that these figures should be taken with a large grain of salt.

Eight states—all northern but one—listed no one in that category: Wyoming, Maine, Montana, South Dakota, Rhode Island, Vermont, New Hampshire and Nevada. All the southern states claimed inordinately large numbers, ranging to 40 in Mississippi, 41 in Alabama and 51 in Texas.

Ten years later the census reported 4,475 centenarians in the country. Experts also regard this number with a skeptical eye. Better established seem to be the findings of an English actuary early in the century. He found 10 authentic British centenarians in 800,000 lives.

Man's Maximum Longevity

Authorities thus estimate that this year, with the population up considerably over 1950, the U. S.

Lumber Shipments Slowed Down From Pacific Northwest

By SAM DAWSON

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The raw materials for America's homes are coming from the Pacific Northwest's forests at a slower rate today than last year. But lumber mill spokesmen say they are still betting on at least a million new houses rising this year—almost as many as last.

The plywood industry, moreover, is going the lumbermen one better. Despite declining shipments, it goes on producing at or near capacity, confident that demand from builders will catch up in coming weeks.

Prices Fluctuate

Lumber prices, shipments and orders, however, at present are all running below this time last year. And numerous small marginal mills and logging operations have closed down, because prices dropped below the break-even point.

The large concerns are betting on a spring pickup in construction to justify their hopes that total production this year will finally come within 5 per cent of 1953's fat output.

Prices of lumber and plywood, now down by 10 to 20 per cent from Korean War highs, are expected to fluctuate with the ups and downs of the construction industry.

And with some types of timber used by home builders, prices may react to Canadian lumber exports and to overseas markets for American forest products.

Strike Threatens May 3

So far this year American shipments of Douglas fir to Australia and South Africa have been topping those from British Columbia—with the rise of the value of the Canadian dollar in foreign exchange said to be giving the Americans a price advantage.

But last year Canada lost part of its English market when the United Kingdom bought lumber from Scandinavia and Russia. The Canadians then sold part of their output in the Eastern U. S. market—weakening prices for American lumber, industry spokesmen here say.

There are other problems bothering the Northwest's No. 1 industry. Booming postwar building brought many marginal mills into operation for a quick harvest of dollars. When production outran demand and prices cracked, these mills folded and brought spot depression to some small communities.

In some instances the easily available timber has been cut, and costs mount as the lumbermen go farther afield.

A threatened strike could affect the production picture. The CIO Woodworkers' Union, representing some 50,000 workers in sawmills and logging camps, has set May 3 as the date for an industry-wide strike unless its demands for wage increases and other benefits are met.

But those who sell lumber see their best chance of finding a million-home market for their product to lie in possible congressional action to ease mortgage financing terms still more.

Driver's Sneeze Was Expensive

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—A sneeze caused $200 damage to John A. Erwin's car, $500 damage to another auto, a bruised knee, and a traffic charge against him of failing to yield the right of way. Erwin told police he suddenly sneezed as he approached an intersection. His auto plowed into another car. The other motorist had a bruised knee.

POWER IN A TINY PACKAGE — Barbara Kendrick, a Pentagon secretary, displays the "Lazy Dog," the Air Forces' latest weapon, in her left hand. The tiny steel missile will be literally shoved out of aircraft in volume. Dropping from a height of 5000 feet, the missile has the penetrating power of a .45-caliber bullet. As a comparison in size, she holds a .30-caliber bullet in her right hand.

Snoring No Crime— Just Nuisance

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP)—The Poplar Bluff Daily American Republic has been carrying a series of articles on snoring, principally by husbands. And the women folk have recommended treatment varying from outright shooting of the snorer to separate bedrooms.

But the other day a correspondent said the thing to do was to find the cause and she cited the scientific analysis she credited to her father:

"The psychological periphery of the perimeter requires that the larynx, the glottis and the epiglottis shall have all the commitments of the atmosphere. That causes the nasal protuberances to prevaricate. In that way the whizzmagigary of the candelabrum has to explode through the hydrostatics of the proboscis, thus producing a snore, a short or a gurgle."

Woods Ripe For Fires; Bear Trap At Cusino

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
(P) Outdoor Writer

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's woods and fields are ripe for costly, dangerous fires right now. The influx of some 200,000 trout fishermen to open the season next weekend will intensify the danger.

Last year's dead ferns and leaves and the broken limbs and other debris of winter only await a spark to set them roaring through the timber.

So anytime you are in the woods, be careful with fire in any form. Break matches before you throw them away, be sure your cigarette, cigar or pipe ashes are dead out and take every precaution to keep camp fires from spreading.

The Michigan Conservation Department has worked out a technique for the unusual pastime of live-trapping and tagging bears.

This had never been done on any scale before, so the specialists at the Cusino station, were on their own.

The trap was built around a section of steel culvert. One end was blocked and a trap-door was rigged up on the other end. The bait was attached to a trip arrangement which sprung the trap door.

It worked but the problem of getting a tag attached to the bear's ear presented itself. Finally, this was solved by sticking a hypodermic needle into the trap and then into the bear to put him to sleep.

Before the bears went into hibernation last winter, the specialists trapped and tagged five of them without any human casualties.

With the spring and renewed bear activity, the trap is being put back to work, and the pioneering tagging project will be resumed.

MORE STRAWBERRIES

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The nation's leading strawberry state, California is expected to produce 25 per cent more berries this year than the 93 million pound crop in 1953, 41 per cent of the national crop. The state's acreage is being increased by more than 1,000 acres to 10,500.

Rid Medicine Cases Of Junk

CINCINNATI (AP)—Get rid of the things in that cluttered medicine cabinet is the warning of Dr. Carl Wilzbach, city health commissioner. Old adhesive tape, cotton and iodine can cause a lot of trouble, he told a newsman, adding: "Most medicine cabinets are loaded with dynamite." The usual, fresh, first-aid articles always should be kept on hand, however, the physician said.

Molars Grow Again

CASPIAN (AP)—Louis Zini, 71, has his third set of molars. And they're his very own—not the store-bought kind. Zini, a retired iron miner in this Upper Peninsula community, has four new molars. They grew in, side by side, on the right side of his lower jaw.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing
